REDS REJECT SURRENDER DEMAND

Truman To Meet MacArthur In Pacific

President Will Address Nation Upon Return

Rendezvous Set For Weekend

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP) — President Truman announced today he will meet General Douglas MacArthur at a secret rendezvous somewhere in the Pacific this weekend to discuss the "final phase" of the Korean War.

The White House said Mr. Truman will also make a "non-partisan" foreign policy speech at San Francisco the night of Oct. 17 on his return from seeing MacArthur.

The President's decision to confer with the American supreme commander in the Far Pacific was announced suddenly and without advance warning, but White House Secretary Charles G. Ross told newsmen:

"It is the result of no sudden emergency."

The conference will mark the first time Mr. Truman and MacArthur have met face-to-face. MacArthur has not been back to the United States since 1937, and their paths have never crossed.

Underscoring the importance of the mid-Pacific talks, a large group of top military and diplomatic advisers will accompany the President on a two-plane flight to the rendezvous.

The group will include Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; W. Averell Harriman, special assistant to the President on foreign affairs; Ambassador-At-Large Philip C. Jessup, and Dean Rusk, Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs.

Secretary of the Army Pace will also make the trip.

The meeting is expected to be held somewhere west of Hawaii, but the White House declined to say whether it would be held aboard a warship or on an island.

Although the White House stressed what it termed the "non- partisan" nature of the whole affair, political analysts sought to assay the effect of the meeting and of Mr. Truman's subsequent speechmaking on the present campaign struggle for control of Congress.

They recalled the late President Roosevelt's "non-political" tours of defense establishments during political campaigns. In this case, however, Mr. Truman will make his journey by plane, which rules out any series of "whistle stop" appearances such as some of his advisers urged before the Korean War.

In Gen. MacArthur, Mr. Truman will be meeting with a commander who has just victoriously directed the U. N. campaign to drive invading red Koreans out of South Korea. The meeting with the general, who was boomed by some admirers for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1948, is being held on White House initiative.

In making the announcement, Mr. Truman took occasion to restate U. S. policy toward Korea. He said the United States has "absolutely no interest in obtaining any special position in Korea, nor do we wish to retain bases or other military installations in that country."

And he declared:

"We should like to get our armed forces out and back to other duties at the earliest moment consistent with the fulfillment of our obligations as a member of the United Nations."

The President thus re-emphasized this country's policy that when the Korean war ends, it will be the task of the United Nations to provide any occupation forces.

Bulk Of 3,500 French Troops Wiped Out By Vietminh Trap

Loss In Indochina Creates Stir

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

SAIGON, INDOCHINA, Oct. 10 (AP)—The bulk of a force of 3,500 French troops has been wiped out in the biggest battle of the four-year-old war with the communist-led Vietminh, the French high command announced tonight.

A French communique admitted the severe setback in the region near the frontier of communist China. Several hundred of the French troops escaped the nationalists' trap, but the remainder "after a bloody combat succumbed, but only after inflicting extremely heavy losses on the enemy."

The French were reported outnumbered 10 to one. But regardless of the number of men involved in the action, the defeat created a major stir.

In Paris it brought an announcement that Colonial Minister Jean Letourneau and Gen. Alphonse Juin, Resident General of Morocco and a trouble-shooter, would fly to Indochina to take whatever steps necessary to bolster the French position. They leave the end of this week.

A source in Paris close to the French cabinet commented that "the rather bad developments in Northern Indochina prove again that there is no longer a border between the communists of Indochina and the communists of China."

The French repeatedly have accused red China of aiding the Indochinese guerrillas of Moscow-trained Ho Chin Minh in the war against the French-sponsored Vietnam regime.

A few hundred crack foreign legionnaires and Moroccans who managed to break through the trap after a five-day battle reached the French held border stronghold at Thatkhe. The others remaining behind apparently ran out of ammunition.

The battle was on a 15-mile stretch of road between Dongkhe and Thatkhe. The troops were among those who were withdrawing from the garrison at Caobang, key frontier post abandoned last week by the French in a move to straighten their lines. Also involved was a column from Thatkhe sent to screen the Caobang withdrawal.

The French have reinforced Thatkhe, the only bastion they now hold on the Chinese border. But their lines are perilously thin in the north and they are facing greatly stepped up guerrilla fighting as the Vietminh continues to gain in strength. The French charge the Vietminh men are being trained intensively and armed across the border in red China.

Credit Controls On Home Buying Effective Thurs.

Down Payments Up, Pay Off Time Cut

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP) — The government today ordered tight controls on home mortgage credit, effective Thursday.

The terms require non-veterans to make cash down payments ranging from 10 per cent on houses costing under $5,000 to 50 per cent on houses priced from $24,250 up. Down payments for veterans will run from five to 45 per cent.

Mortgages will have to be paid off within 20 years, with one exception: 25 years will be allowed to pay off on houses valued below $7,000.

Raymond E. Foley, head of the Housing and Home Finance Agency (HHFA) said that will boost monthly payments on mortgages by cutting about five years off the prevailing pay-off limits for private and government-backed mortgages alike.

The controls apply only to one and two-family houses — not apartment projects, or store or factory construction, for which other regulations are being considered.

The controls are aimed at cutting the pace of home-building from the present record rate of 1,300,000 a year to "not more than 800,000" in 1951.

So far as bank or other private mortgages are concerned, the control terms apply not to existing houses but those started since "noon on August 3" and not covered by loan commitments made before that date.

The terms will be applied to all government-backed mortgages — those insured by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) or Veterans Administration (V) — for which application is received at VA and FHA offices over the country after tomorrow, regardless of when the house was built.

The buyer cannot count closing costs on his transaction — taxes, insurance, and so on — as a part of his cash down payment.

Also, the regulations state that "the cash down payment may not be borrowed from any source, except for loans against equities in life insurance policies."

The controls are intended to help check inflation and to save labor and materials for defense uses. Foley said the action will tend to bring housing costs and prices down. Officials said it will do this by reducing the effective demand for homes.

Cyrus S. Ching Temporary Head Of Wage Board

Picked By Truman To Organize Unit

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP) — Cyrus S. Ching, brawny 74-year-old Federal Mediation Director, and a Republican, accepted a temporary assignment today, as chairman of the government's new Wage Stabilization Board.

The White House, announcing the appointment, said Ching will serve for a "limited time" in order to get the board organized. He will take a leave of absence from the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, and will return to head that agency later.

Ching's board will have nine members, equally representing labor, business, and the public. Its job is to help determine wage policies in the defense period.

Ching will serve under another Republican, Dr. Alan Valentine, who was appointed Saturday as administrator of the Economic Stabilization Agency (ESA).

Thus President Truman is gradually filling the key spots of the ESA, whose function is to study prices and wages, try to hold them down by voluntary means, and to administer price and wage controls if these become necessary.

Ching is one of Valentine's two main lieutenants. The other will be the Director of Price Stabilization, not yet chosen.

Mr. Truman announced creation of the ESA on Sept. 9 and has been having trouble finding the right men to run it. Several days ago it was reported that Ching had been offered the wage board chairmanship. Today he visited the President and accepted. He will be one of the three public members.

His eight colleagues on the board have not yet been announced.

North Koreans Told To Fight 'To The Death'

Port City Of Wonsan Taken

By BILL ROSS

TOKYO, Wednesday, Oct. 11 (AP) — The North Korean government flatly rejected United Nations surrender demands today and ordered communist forces in Korea to fight to the death.

Red defiance came as South Korean troops occupied Wonsan, a key port and airbase only 95 air miles east of Pyongyang, North Korean capital. Republican patrols fanned north and west of the freed city in pursuit of fleeing North Koreans, field dispatches said.

U. S. First Cavalry troopers, biting deeper into communist territory drove within 85 air miles of the red capital from the southeast.

The cavalrymen, however, were forced to battle fiercely for every yard gained on the western end of a 145-mile battlefront.

Two North Korean divisions of possibly 20,000 also were making a stubborn defense against South Korean attacks along a 30-mile front 10 to 40 miles east of the First Cavalry sector.

The official communist radio at Pyongyang broadcast the fight-to-death order some 36-hours after General Douglas MacArthur made a final surrender demand upon red Premier Kim Il Sung.

There was no immediate indication that the red regime had been offered troops or supplies to replenish North Korea's badly depleted fighting resources.

Kim Il Sung, as commander in chief of the red army, called on "the entire peoples army, partisans and all people to fight until the final day of victory."

Admitting the communist motherland "is face to face with a grave crisis," Kim said:

"We should study the example of Soviet Russia's October revolution."

While the showdown battle for communist North Korea raged, there were two spectacular political developments:

1. Washington announced forthcoming weekend talk between President Truman and General Douglas MacArthur, somewhere in the Pacific to discuss "the final phase of United Nations action in Korea," as the President phrased it. This aroused keenest interest in Tokyo but there was no official comment immediately.

2. Russia charged that two American jet fighters attacked a Soviet airfield 18 miles southwest of Vladivostok. A Far East Air Force (FEAF) spokesman said he was "unable to comment at this time." Presumably the charge was under investigation by Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer's command, which operates all land-based fighter planes in the war theater.

Capture of Wonsan by Third South Division troops gave the U.N. forces a prize of immediate strategic importance. Wonsan's air base is 360 miles south of Vladivostok but any planes such as Russia complains of would not have come from Wonsan. The field is not yet in operation.

Pyongyang, the North Korean capital 95 air miles west of Wonsan, is only 20 minutes flight away from Wonsan. The air force expects to have the field in use soon.

Wage Increase Demand Handed J. & L. Steel

Union, Company Open Pact Talks

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 10 (AP) — Another big steel company today formally received the CIO United Steelworkers' demand for an unspecified wage increase.

Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, fourth largest American steel producer, opened negotiations with the USW behind the closed doors of a hotel conference room.

USW District Director John Murray, who heads the union negotiating team, said after the two-hour meeting that the union had presented its 1950 wage policy. There was no comment from company officials.

Murray said the company will study the union's demands. J. and L. will call for another session when the steel executives are ready to meet.

The USW leader would not say if the union had presented a dollar and cents wage figure.

The union's 1950 wage policy calls for a general wage increase but does not name a figure. The union's goals also include severance pay, improved premium pay for weekends and holidays and a guaranteed annual wage.

Gen. Twining Named Air Force Vice Chief

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP) — President Truman named a veteran strategic air commander to the number two job in the air force today and sent one of the service's most noted young men to command the U. S. Air Forces in Europe.

Lt. General Nathan F. Twining, whose 15th Air Force made long-range attacks on German targets from Italy during World War II, was appointed vice chief of staff of the Air Force.

Non-Defense Spending Cut Drastically By Government

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP) — A $580,271,335 cut in the government's non-defense spending was ordered today in keeping with economy instructions of Congress.

The reduction was applied by the Budget Bureau, with President Truman's approval, against appropriations intended to run the government for fiscal 1951 ending next June 30.

Although spread among 31 departments and agencies, the cut is not expected to materially curtail going federal projects, or—in the case of the farm support program—to mean any reduction in farm payments during the 1950 crop year.

It does, however, mean that the number of new projects—notably hospital projects—may be sharply limited.

Budget Director Frederick J. Lawton, in notifying agencies of their share in the reduction, observed that "some people will endorse the total action, but deplore its application to specific items."

For the most part, the agencies themselves were unprepared to say at once what effect the cuts would have on their operations, or to what specific activities they would be applied.

Congress left the job of apportioning the cut to the Budget Bureau. However, the agencies are permitted to apply their apportioned share to such specific projects as they may deem appropriate.

In approving the $35,554,600,425 one-package appropriations bill earlier this year, Congress directed the executive branch to make a lump-sum reduction amounting to not less than $550,000,000.

Today's order by the Budget Bureau went $30,271,335 beyond this. The largest cuts went—in order—to the Federal Security Agency's hospital construction program, the Department of Agriculture's rural electrification program, reclamation and power marketing agenies of the Interior Department, civic functions of the Corps of Army Engineers, and European Aid programs.

Vishinsky, Back In Form, Blasts Acheson's Plan

Rejects Proposals For Anti-Aggression

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 10 (AP) — Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky, in a return to his old-time bitter style, today rejected as "bizarre" and "illegal" the major portions of Secretary of State Acheson's anti-aggression proposals.

The Soviet Foreign Minister opposed Acheson's plan for U. N. members to maintain specially trained military units for instant U. N. duty and for a collective action committee to study how to train such forces for the U. N.

He accepted a plan for special emergency sessions of the General Assembly but on such conditions that these sessions could be thwarted by a Soviet veto in the Security Council.

Suddenly casting aside his mild manner in the 60-Nation Political Committee of the General Assembly Vishinsky dashed hopes of delegates who had been encouraged by his brief comment yesterday that he would accept some of the proposals.

The only point that Vishinsky came out for with almost no strings was a proposal for a fact-finding committee to go to trouble spots for an investigation.

Commenting to newsmen after the long hour and a half Vishinsky speech, U. S. Delegate John Foster Dulles said "my initial reaction is disappointment that Mr. Vishinsky has been so negatve."

December Draft Call For Army Set At 40,000

Professional Men Also To Be Called

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Army called today for 40,000 additional draftees during December.

Its request was sent to Selective Service Headquarters by the Defense Department. The men will be chosen by local draft boards from the ranks of those aged 19 to 25, inclusive.

The December call is 30,000 less than that for November. With the Army planning to draft a total of 300,000 in the six months that started October 1, an Army spokesman said the reduction below the November rate might be due to two factors:

1. An average of 45,000 a month, during the period starting December 1, would be sufficient to achieve this goal.

2. Induction of draftees is usually suspended for a week or 10 days during the Christmas season, thus reducing the number delivered to the Army.

Earlier today the Defense Department asked Selective Service to draft 1,522 doctors, dentists and veterinarians for the Army during November, December and January.

New Operation Mends Heart Of Pa. Miner's Ill Daughter

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10 (AP) — A new operation which adds one more piece of knowledge to man's knack of mending damaged hearts was disclosed today by surgeons at Hahnemann Hospital.

The heart in this case belongs to 22-year-old Lorene Beam, daughter of a Hazelton (Pa.) anthracite miner, and it had been damaged nine years ago by rheumatic fever.

For two years after she was ill with the fever Lorene was bedfast. Then she got better, finished grade school and clerked in a five and dime store, but good health was never hers.

Three years ago she was forced back to bed.

It was in May of this year that Lorene, wishing health more than anything in the world, came to Hahnemann Hospital.

Surgeons, who declined use of their names, said she had mitral regurgitation.

At the time they examined Lorene, laboratory experiments already were in progress to find a way to repair a heart so damaged.

"Try it out on me, now," begged Lorene.

They said, no, not yet. But they promised to let her know whenever the technique involved in the operation was worked out.

The call came four weeks ago after the team of three surgeons had performed the operation on "countless" dogs.

Lorene "took the operation very well," a doctor said.

She's up and about now and expects to go home maybe by the end of this week.

Alabama Will Not Press Taylor's Arrest

BRIMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 10 (AP) —Chances for Sen. Glen Taylor (D-Idaho) to serve his 180-day sentence in the Birmingham Jail dropped almost to zero today.

Gov. James E. Folsom refused to ask the Senator's return to this state.

Taylor already had announced he would stay away from the Birmingham "chain gang." He was convicted of disorderly conduct in May, 1948, when he sought to use the negro entrance to address a negro youth rally.

Los Angeles Streets Jammed For Six-Hour Legion Parade

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10 (AP) — Fifty thousand strong, the American Legion today paraded through downtown streets before a cheering, shirt-sleeved crowd that jammed sidewalks five and six deep.

Newspaper estimates of the throng ran over a million but police sidestepped guessing at a figure.

The temperature was in the middle seventies and the sun shone hazily through a product that wasn't invited—smog.

The rat-a-tat-tat of the uncounted drum and bugle corps thundered up and down Broadway as the river of men and metal rolled along the two-mile route. The parade, six hours long, thus had many units dispersing before others were formed.

First came cars bearing Honorary Grand Marshal Perry Brown and Grand Marshal Brig. Gen. Leroy H. Watson and their staffs.

Snappy units of the 13th Armored Division of the California National Guard followed. Caterpillar-treaded dreadnaughts clawed along the asphalt streets, mounting 155 mm. howitzers. The big guns shot off blank charges. Fifteen giant M4A3 Sherman tanks also lumbered along, accompanied by truckloads of infantrymen in full combat gear.

There were sounds of saluting aircraft overhead but smog was too thick to see them.

The Raymond A. Garbarina Post Drum and Bugle Corps of New York City, 1949 and 1950 Legion national champions, dazzled the crowd. Stepping easily through intricate drills, they sparkled in flaming red coats, blue trousers and white plastic caps.

Studebaker Jumps Low Price Car Cost

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 10 (AP) — Studebaker Corp. announced today factory list prices for its 1951 "Champion" models would be increased by $50, and at the same time disclosed reductions ranging up to $110 on 1951 models of its higher priced "Commander" series.

Immigration Men Detain 95 But Toscanini Is Cleared

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—Immigration men boarded two big incoming Italian liners today and ordered 95 alien passengers to Ellis Island for a detailed examination.

It was the biggest mass screening so far under the new McCarran Law—which bars past or present communists or fascists from the U. S.

Among those caught in the net was a 25-year-old Mezzo-soprano, Mrs. Fedora Barbieri, on her way to sing with the Metropolitan Opera Company. She said she once attended a Fascist school.

However, the most prominent among the passengers — Maestro Arturo Toscanini—breezed through the preliminary exam in a few minutes and went on his way.

The liners were the Vulcania and the Italia.

Immigration inspectors ordered 75 of the Vulcania's 1,465 passengers to Ellis Island. Twenty of the Italia's 1,219 passengers got the same treatment.

All but a handful of the crewmen on the ships were denied shore leave. Those ordered to remain aboard were members at one time of the Fascist-dominated Italian Seaman's Union, immigration officials said.

District Immigration Director Edward J. Shaughnessy said the passengers on Ellis Island will be temporarily detained while a report on each of them is forwarded to Washington.

Then, he said, it's up to the Commissioner of Immigration to decide what happens next.

The Home lines—which operates the Italia—said one of the detained passengers was an employe of the Italian government. He was not identified by name.

Bulk Of 3,500 French Troops Wiped Out By Vietminh Trap

Loss In Indochina Creates Stir

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

SAIGON, INDOCHINA, Oct. 10 (AP)—The bulk of a force of 3,500 French troops has been wiped out in the biggest battle of the four-year-old war with the communist-led Vietminh, the French high command announced tonight.

A French communique admitted the severe setback in the region near the frontier of communist China. Several hundred of the French troops escaped the nationalists' trap, but the remainder "after a bloody combat succumbed, but only after inflicting extremely heavy losses on the enemy."

The French were reported outnumbered 10 to one. But regardless of the number of men involved in the action, the defeat created a major stir.

In Paris it brought an announcement that Colonial Minister Jean Letourneau and Gen. Alphonse Juin, Resident General of Morocco and a trouble-shooter, would fly to Indochina to take whatever steps necessary to bolster the French position. They leave the end of this week.

A source in Paris close to the French cabinet commented that "the rather bad developments in Northern Indochina prove again that there is no longer a border between the communists of Indochina and the communists of China."

The French repeatedly have accused red China of aiding the Indochinese guerrillas of Moscow-trained Ho Chin Minh in the war against the French-sponsored Vietnam regime.

A few hundred crack foreign legionnaires and Moroccans who managed to break through the trap after a five-day battle reached the French held border stronghold at Thatkhe. The others remaining behind apparently ran out of ammunition.

The battle was on a 15-mile stretch of road between Dongkhe and Thatkhe. The troops were among those who were withdrawing from the garrison at Caobang, key frontier post abandoned last week by the French in a move to straighten their lines. Also involved was a column from Thatkhe sent to screen the Caobang withdrawal.

The French have reinforced Thatkhe, the only bastion they now hold on the Chinese border. But their lines are perilously thin in the north and they are facing greatly stepped up guerrilla fighting as the Vietminh continues to gain in strength. The French charge the Vietminh men are being trained intensively and armed across the border in red China.

Credit Controls On Home Buying Effective Thurs.

Down Payments Up, Pay Off Time Cut

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP) — The government today ordered tight controls on home mortgage credit, effective Thursday.

The terms require non-veterans to make cash down payments ranging from 10 per cent on houses costing under $5,000 to 50 per cent on houses priced from $24,250 up. Down payments for veterans will run from five to 45 per cent.

Mortgages will have to be paid off within 20 years, with one exception: 25 years will be allowed to pay off on houses valued below $7,000.

Ryamond E. Foley, head of the Housing and Home Finance Agency (HHFA) said that will boost monthly payments on mortgages by cutting about five years off the prevailing pay-off limits for private and government-backed mortgages alike.

The controls apply only to one and two-family houses — not apartment projects, or store or factory construction, for which other regulations are being considered.

The controls are aimed at cutting the pace of home-building from the present record rate of 1,300,000 a year to "not more than 800,000" in 1951.

So far as bank or other private mortgages are concerned, the control terms apply not to existing houses but those started since "noon on August 3" and not covered by loan commitments made before that date.

The terms will be applied to all government-backed mortgages — those insured by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) or Veterans Administration (V) — for which application is received at VA and FHA offices over the country after tomorrow, regardless of when the house was built.

The buyer cannot count closing costs on his transaction — taxes, insurance, and so on — as a part of his cash down payment.

Also, the regulations state that "the cash down payment may not be borrowed from any source, except for loans against equities in life insurance policies."

The controls are intended to help check inflation and to save labor and materials for defense uses. Foley said the action will tend to bring housing costs and prices down. Officials said it will do this by reducing the effective demand for homes.

Cyrus S. Ching Temporary Head Of Wage Board

Picked By Truman To Organize Unit

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP) — Cyrus S. Ching, brawny 74-year-old Federal Mediation Director, and a Republican, accepted a temporary assignment today as chairman of the government's new Wage Stabilization Board.

The White House, announcing the appointment, said Ching will serve for a "limited time" in order to get the board organized. He will take a leave of absence from the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, and will return to head that agency later.

Ching's board will have nine members, equally representing labor, business, and the public. Its job is to help determine wage policies in the defense period.

Ching will serve under another Republican, Dr. Alan Valentine, who was appointed Saturday as administrator of the Economic Stabilization Agency (ESA).

Thus President Truman is gradually filling the key spots of the ESA, whose function is to study prices and wages, try to hold them down by voluntary means, and to administer price and wage controls if these become necessary.

Ching is one of Valentine's two main lieutenants. The other will be the Director of Price Stabilization, not yet chosen.

Mr. Truman announced creation of the ESA on Sept. 9 and has been having trouble finding the right men to run it. Several days ago it was reported that Ching had been offered the wage board chairmanship. Today he visited the President and accepted. He will be one of the three public members.

His eight colleagues on the board have not yet been announced.

December Draft Call For Army Set At 40,000

Professional Men Also To Be Called

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Army called today for 40,000 additional draftees during December.

Its request was sent to Selective Service Headquarters by the Defense Department. The men will be chosen by local draft boards from the ranks of those aged 19 to 25, inclusive.

The December call is 30,000 less than that for November. With the Army planning to draft a total of 300,000 in the six months that started October 1, an Army spokesman said the reduction below the November rate might be due to two factors:

1. An average of 45,000 a month, during the period starting December 1, would be sufficient to achieve this goal.

2. Induction of draftees is usually suspended for a week or 10 days during the Christmas season, thus reducing the number delivered to the Army.

Earlier today the Defense Department asked Selective Service to draft 1,522 doctors, dentists and veterinarians for the Army during November, December and January.

North Koreans Told To Fight 'To The Death'

By BILL ROSS

TOKYO, Wednesday, Oct. 11 (AP) — The North Korean government flatly rejected United Nations surrender demands today and ordered communist forces in Korea to fight to the death.

Red defiance came as South Korean troops occupied Wonsan, a key port and airbase only 95 air miles east of Pyongyang, North Korean capital. Republican patrols fanned north and west of the freed city in pursuit of fleeing North Koreans, field dispatches said.

U. S. First Cavalry troopers, biting deeper into communist territory drove within 85 air miles of the red capital from the southeast.

The cavalrymen, however, were forced to battle fiercely for every yard gained on the western end of a 145-mile battlefront.

Two North Korean divisions of possibly 20,000 also were making a stubborn defense against South Korean attacks along a 30-mile front 10 to 40 miles east of the First Cavalry sector.

The official communist radio at Pyongyang broadcast the fight-to-death order some 36-hours after General Douglas MacArthur made a final surrender demand upon red Premier Kim Il Sung.

There was no immediate indication that the red regime had been offered troops or supplies to replenish North Korea's badly depleted fighting resources.

Kim Il Sung, as commander in chief of the red army, called on "the entire peoples army, partisans and all people to fight until the final day of victory."

Admitting the communist motherland "is face to face with a grave crisis," Kim said:

"We should study the example of Soviet Russia's October revolution."

While the showdown battle for communist North Korea raged, there were two spectacular political developments:

1. Washington announced forthcoming weekend talk between President Truman and General Douglas MacArthur, somewhere in the Pacific to discuss "the final phase of United Nations action in Korea," as the President phrased it. This aroused keenest interest in Tokyo but there was no official comment immediately.

2. Russia charged that two American jet fighters attacked a Soviet airfield 18 miles southwest of Vladivostok. A Far East Air Force (FEAF) spokesman said he was "unable to comment at this time." Presumably the charge was under investigation by Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer's command, which operates all land-based fighter planes in the war theater.

Capture of Wonsan by Third South Division troops gave the U.N. forces a prize of immediate strategic importance. Wonsan's air base is 360 miles south of Vladivostok but any planes such as Russia complains of would not have come from Wonsan. The field is not yet in operation.

Pyongyang, the North Korean capital 95 air miles west of Wonsan, is only 20 minutes flight away from Wonsan. The air force expects to have the field in use soon.

Bombed With Rice

TAIPEI, Formosa, Oct. 10 (AP) — Ten Chinese Nationalist Air Force planes dropped 55 tons of rice and six tons of leaflets into seven provinces of Red China today.

Los Angeles Streets Jammed For Six-Hour Legion Parade

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10 (AP) — Fifty thousand strong, the American Legion today paraded through downtown streets before a cheering, shirt-sleeved crowd that jammed sidewalks five and six deep.

Newspaper estimates of the throng ran over a million but police sidestepped guessing at a figure.

The temperature was in the middle seventies and the sun shone hazily through a product that wasn't invited—smog.

The rat-a-tat-tat of the uncounted drum and bugle corps thundered up and down Broadway as the river of men and metal rolled along the two-mile route. The parade, six hours long, thus had many units dispersing before others were formed.

First came cars bearing Honorary Grand Marshal Perry Brown and Grand Marshal Brig. Gen. Leroy H. Watson and their staffs.

Snappy units of the 13th Armored Division of the California National Guard followed. Caterpillar-treaded dreadnaughts clawed along the asphalt streets, mounting 155 mm. howitzers. The big guns shot off blank charges. Fifteen giant M4A3 Sherman tanks also lumbered along, accompanied by truckloads of infantrymen in full combat gear.

There were sounds of saluting aircraft overhead but smog was too thick to see them.

The Raymond A. Garbarina Post Drum and Bugle Corps of New York City, 1949 and 1950 Legion national champions, dazzled the crowd. Stepping easily through intricate drills, they sparkled in flaming red coats, blue trousers and white plastic caps.

New Operation Mends Heart Of Pa. Miner's Ill Daughter

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10 (AP) — A new operation which adds one more piece of knowledge to man's knack of mending damaged hearts was disclosed today by surgeons at Hahnemann Hospital.

The heart in this case belongs to 22-year-old Lorene Beam, daughter of a Hazelton (Pa.) anthracite miner, and it had been damaged nine years ago by rheumatic fever.

For two years after she was ill with the fever Lorene was bedfast. Then she got better, finished grade school and clerked in a five and dime store, but good health was never hers.

Three years ago she was forced back to bed.

It was in May of this year that Lorene, wishing health more than anything in the world, came to Hahnemann Hospital.

Surgeons, who declined use of their names, said she had mitral regurgitation.

At the time they examined Lorene, laboratory experiments already were in progress to find a way to repair a heart so damaged.

"Try it out on me, now," begged Lorene.

They said, no, not yet. But they promised to let her know whenever the technique involved in the operation was worked out.

The call came four weeks ago after the team of three surgeons had performed the operation on "countless" dogs.

Lorene "took the operation very well," a doctor said.

She's up and about now and expects to go home maybe by the end of this week.

Immigration Men Detain 95 But Toscanini Is Cleared

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—Immigration men boarded two big incoming Italian liners today and ordered 95 alien passengers to Ellis Island for a detailed examination.

It was the biggest mass screening so far under the new McCarran Law—which bars past or present communists or fascists from the U. S.

Among those caught in the net was a 25-year-old Mezzo-soprano, Mrs. Fedora Barbieri, on her way to sing with the Metropolitan Opera Company. She said she once attended a Fascist school.

However, the most prominent among the passengers — Maestro Arturo Toscanini—breezed through the preliminary exam in a few minutes and went on his way.

The liners were the Vulcania and the Italia.

Immigration inspectors ordered 75 of the Vulcania's 1,465 passengers to Ellis Island. Twenty of the Italia's 1,219 passengers got the same treatment.

All but a handful of the crewmen on the ships were denied shore leave. Those ordered to remain aboard were members at one time of the Fascist-dominated Italian Seaman's Union, immigration officials said.

District Immigration Director Edward J. Shaughnessy said the passengers on Ellis Island will be temporarily detained while a report on each of them is forwarded to Washington.

Then, he said, it's up to the Commissioner of Immigration to decide what happens next.

The Home lines—which operates the Italia—said one of the detained passengers was an employe of the Italian government. He was not identified by name.

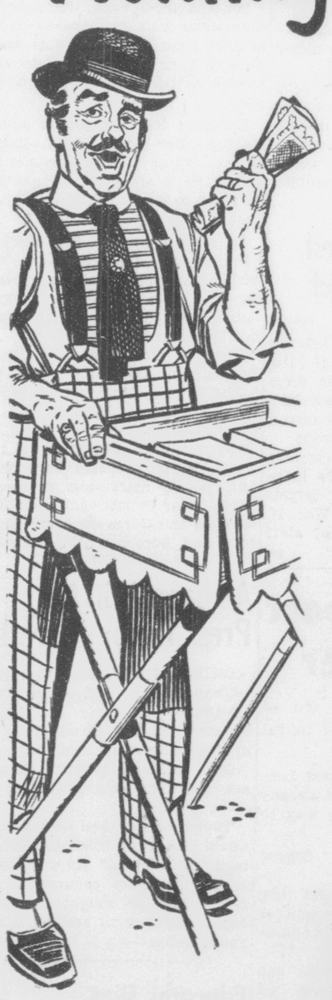
Nothing FOR Something



It's an old trick of the curbstone pitchman to offer you Something for Nothing

"Tell you what I'm going to do, Ladies and Gentlemen, I am going to give you, absolutely free..."

Yes, it's an old trick. But it's still a popular one. Salesmen of Socialism use it the world over. Yet when analyzed, their Something for Nothing always turns out to be—NOTHING FOR SOMETHING!

That isn't the way America became the greatest, healthiest Nation in the world. American business has reached its present stature because it believes in giving the customer his money's worth.

Through healthy competition, and the will to serve, American medicine has created the finest system of medical care in the world.

Through ingenuity and free enterprise, American citizens have higher incomes, better education, better health and more freedom than citizens of any other great Nation on earth.

Freedom is America's heritage, and Americans cherish it deeply—for themselves and for the entire world. In exchange for this good way of life, the political pitchman offers us the quack remedy of Something for Nothing...of "free" medical care, doled out by politicians.

AMERICA JUST CAN'T BUY THAT!

Through healthy competition, and the will to serve, American medicine has created the finest system of medical care in the world.

Through ingenuity and free enterprise, American citizens have higher incomes, better education, better health and more freedom than citizens of any other great Nation on earth.

Freedom is America's heritage, and Americans cherish it deeply—for themselves and for the entire world. In exchange for this good way of life, the political pitchman offers us the quack remedy of Something for Nothing... of "free" medical care, doled out by politicians.

AMERICA JUST CAN'T BUY THAT!

Board Suspends Club License

The Allegany County Liquor Control Board yesterday ordered the liquor license of the Navy League of the United States at 148 North Centre Street suspended for 30 days.

Licensees of the club were charged with failing to allow Lieut. Edwin R. Lilya of the city police to inspect the premises on September 1.

It was brought out at the hearing that Lieut. Lilya was admitted to the club but that cabinets, allegedly containing slot machines, were not opened for his inspection.

The defense, by Thomas B. Finan, attorney for the three club officers, was that James E. Niland, president of the club, had the keys to the cabinets in his possession and was absent and the employe at the club had no way to open the receptacles.

Finan asked the board if under the regulations of the board any tavern which had a safe would be required to have the employes know the combination while the owner was absent.

The board said that such a situation did not enter into the case being heard.

Licensees of the Navy Club are Niland, Daniel T. Drew and Robert J. Washabaugh.

Under the board's order the club will remain closed until November 8.

Wanted—by Almost Half the People!

According to a recent widespread survey—almost half the motor car owners in the United States would choose a Cadillac, if they had their unrestricted choice.

This is, of course, a tremendous tribute to Cadillac, and to those who have designed it so well and built it so soundly for so long a time. But we think it is, equally, a tribute to the American people themselves.

Only a small percentage of American motorists have ever driven a Cadillac—or even enjoyed a ride in one.

But that has not hindered the public from sensing the soundness of the Cadillac ideal—or from giving its wholehearted approval to the Cadillac crusade for quality. Where the effort is worthy—the American people approve.

We regret exceedingly that not every one who wants a Cadillac can own one. But we believe, sincerely, that many have needlessly denied themselves the pleasure.

Cadillac cars are far more practical and economical to own than most people realize.

It costs less to buy the lower-priced Cadillacs than it costs to buy certain models of numerous other makes of cars.

Furthermore, a single tankful of gasoline will usually suffice for a whole day's drive.

And, of course, when it comes to endurance, a Cadillac stands alone—for its life-span has never been fully measured.

Yes, for a wide group of people, a Cadillac car is a sensible, practical buy. We hope sincerely that it is for you.

Destroying A Border

More than three centuries before the time of Christ the Oriental scholar known as Pilpay or Bidpai observed that "possession was the strongest tenure of the law." It has been especially true in the negotiation of international disputes over borders and such that the final settlement has been strongly influenced by the actual physical situation, possession being a powerful argument.

Dealing with the problem of Korea, the United Nations must of necessity consider whether to continue the artificial division of the country at the 38th Parallel or destroy that dividing line. Now it appears that the line will have been destroyed in fact, or at the least substantially altered, before the diplomatic debate of the question is begun.

The arguments for wiping out the line are almost overwhelming, in any case. The division was created out of the blue sky by the heads of the Allied Powers as a marker between zones of military occupation. Whatever was in the minds of the Russians, it never was intended by the others that the division should endure beyond the time of establishing a native government. An appropriate occasion has been created for carrying out the original intent, which involves establishment, under UN supervision, of a single government for Korea. The dividing line would then vanish.

No Short Cut

A Chicago man, Edward Roeder, believes he has the secret of making those superb violins which the old masters like Stradivarius turned out. His secret is in a varnish he has discovered and which he thinks may be the same as that applied by the old-timers to give their violins a superlative tone. According to Roeder, this can be used on any old violin with excellent results.

Here is a suggestion that great violins can be made by assembly line methods, and it is erroneous. Stradivarius and others employed the most painstaking and intelligent craftsmanship in the construction of their violins. There is no substitute for it.

By the same argument, somebody might devise a gargle that would give a raucous larynx the tone of a Caruso.

The hurry-up methods of modern times have nearly deprived the world of the wonders of personal craftsmanship. These methods have made good products available to most people. Mass production is a great boon materially in terms of standard of living.

But the claim that mass production can equal in quality the devotion of personal attention to the fashioning of fine products cannot be sustained.

Color TV Impasse

The Federal Communications Commission several weeks ago cast its glove in front of the makers of television sets in this country. The set makers tossed it right back in the fact of the FCC.

Never has the FCC been in such an uncomfortable spot before. It assumed jurisdiction over the problem of deciding which of two or three full-color systems of TV broadcast should become the standard one. The two biggest rivals were the Columbia Broadcasting System and the Radio Corporation of America.

After exhaustive tests, the FCC decided the Columbia color system was best and told all manufacturers to switch over to it. There was a howl, because CBS color was the only system that couldn't be received on present black and white receiving sets. The decision had the effect of making all of the 8,000,000 sets in U. S. homes obsolete. The FCC order requested all set makers to say by October 1 that they would follow along.

Now the whole industry—excepting Columbia—is lined up against the FCC. 'It is obvious the FCC acted hastily in not giving other systems time to bring about technical improvements. After all, the "public interest" isn't being served too well by outmoding several million sets by executive fiat.

To Make More Steel

It is good news that the steel industry plans to expand its capacity by nearly 10 per cent during the next two years. With armament spending being stepped up, it is obvious that the demand for steel will increase.

On the basis of data collected by the American Iron and Steel Institute, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer estimates that annual capacity should reach 109,963,000 tons by December 31, 1952. On July 1 this year annual capacity was rated at 100,563,000 tons, an all-time high.

The greatest output recorded during World War II —the year was 1944—was 16,000,000 tons less than the expected 1952 total. The most steel ever used for military purposes in a single war year—also 1944—was 53,000,000 tons, or less than half of the prospective capacity to be reached in 1952.

The statistics cited by Secretary Sawyer also reflect the fact that the industry has been expanding its capacity since World War II ended. That is the best reason for feeling confident that the plants now projected will materialize.

Profitable Circle

Strikes in Finnish factories have caused delays in war reparations shipments to Russia, as a result of which Finland must pay a penalty for failure to maintain scheduled deliveries. No doubt a reasonable amount of the penalty money will be promptly sent back to Finland, to communist groups who can use it to foment other strikes and cause new delays which will result in further penalty payments to Moscow.

Obviously Moscow shrewdness is not to be underestimated. This profitable arrangement would be worthy of the most accomplished racketeers.

Hygiene During Pregnancy

MOST of the superstitions concerning pregnancy have been discarded because the majority of women have the intelligence to recognize how silly they are. The modern expectant mother never carries the rattle of a rattlesnake in a little black silk cloth to hasten confinement. She cuts her nails because she realizes that this will never harm the baby she is carrying. She is not afraid to raise her arms; she knows that the unborn babe cannot see her and will not try to follow suit. One old wives' tale discouraged elevating her arms as this was said to be the manner in which the cord becomes entagled about the neck.

Stories about birthmarks are plentiful; being scared by a horse or mouse will not leave the contour of these animals on the skin, because these blemishes are caused by a developmental disturbance. Nothing is transmitted thru the nervous system because there is no connection between the two; the umbilical cord and placenta cannot send nerve impulses.

• — • — •

At the first sign of pregnancy most women report to their physicians for a thoro examination and blood tests. They want to be as healthy as possible while the child is forming. After all, the foundation comes first and unless it is firm the superstructure suffers. The diet that is recommended usually is simple but contains all the essential food elements. Cleanliness also is stressed, as well as proper elimination. Instructions on the care of the breasts are required because attention to these structures at this time may have an effect on the feeding problems of the infant later on.

• — • — •

Little problems are likely to arise. Should round garters be worn? Most physicians agree that they should not because constriction may influence the circulation of the legs. To hold up the stockings, a loose fitting garter belt is preferred. What about an abdominal support? The young lady who never gave birth before seldom needs a girdle during pregnancy unless she is accustomed to wearing one and has come to depend upon it. On the other hand, the abdomen may be overstretched in those who have had children previously. That is why the second or third pregnancy is poorly supported and the babe often is carried lower than in former pregnancies—not because the child is going to be a boy. A good foundation garment in these cases helps to relieve low backache and the altered posture caused by shifting of the center of gravity.

Exercise requires common sense. The woman who is athletically inclined should not become completely inactive; nor should the sedentary individual or office worker become an athlete. If there is any doubt, walking in the open air is as good as anything. Problems relative to vacations and automobile trips are individual ones and should be considered accordingly.

No. Many individuals with kidney stones never have albuminuria. Furthermore, those who are excreting albumin are not necessarily the ones to develop renal calculi.

BURNING TOES

Mrs. M. T. writes: What causes the toes to burn off and on?

REPLY

So long as they stay on and don't burn off, you have nothing to worry about. This sensation develops in periods when the blood vessels of the skin of the feet are fully dilated, causing congestion in the tissues. This occurs in erythromelalgia, for example, as an abnormal response to heat. By getting off the feet every now and then, and doing everything possible to keep the toes cool by leaving them uncovered at night, the symptom is less likely to occur. An aspirin tablet at night might offer relief, when discomfort is sufficient to interfere with sleep.

BLADDER ABNORMALITY

J. T. writes: Does a prolapsed bladder call for surgery?

REPLY

Only if the condition is marked or is producing symptoms. In women, this difficulty usually results from tearing incident to childbirth. Infection is a common aftermath of prolapse, especially when the organ fails to empty completely.

SHAVING AND HICCUPS

G. T. writes: Each time I use the electric razor I start hiccuping. What is the reason?

REPLY

This is a new one on me and I doubt if the manufacturers of electric razors can answer it; even those who believe that two, three, and now four heads are better than one.

G.I.'s Wait On Parade Ground For Gen. Collins; Cites His Belief In "Prestige Of Rank;" Kaiser Proves Private Enterprise Is Not Dead

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—With manpower the most precious thing in the armed forces, some of the brass hats still don't seem to realize that the G.I.'s time is valuable. Every hour he is kept in useless lineups cuts down his training period and his preparation for the battle front.

The other day at Camp Pickett, Va., for instance, the entire camp was herded on the parade ground, then kept waiting two hours to hear a pep talk by Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army Chief of Staff.

Camp commanders seemed to think the G. I.'s had no more important training than to stand two hours waiting for the General to arrive.

Collins, a great fighting officer, gave a forthright talk, but left one sentence ringing in G.I. ears

"Don't misunderstand me," he said, "I'm a great believer in rank and the prestige of rank."

While he was speaking, two Congressmen also happened to drop in at Camp Pickett—Democrats Wayne Hays of Ohio and John McGuire of Connecticut. Having no brass to flash, all they got was the runaround. Finally, they located a lieutenant colonel at headquarters and told him whom they wanted to visit.

"You can't see anyone," tartly retorted the officer. "These fellows are busy. They're being marched to the parade ground to hear General Collins."

"What's to prevent us from going over?" asked Congressman Hays.

"We're all busy," mumbled the lieutenant colonel. "You can park your car and walk over to the hill if you want to."

The two Congressmen stayed to see how the draftees were being treated, and later got a more hospitable reception from Camp Pickett officers. They have decided however, that it would be a good idea to drop in at the other camps for Congressional inspections.

NOTE—What Gen. Collins was driving at when he emphasized the importance of rank was that every enlisted man has a chance to be promoted, and that junior officers and non-coms are the backbone of the army.

Kaiser's Gamble

Private enterprise, according to some people, is dead. But the other day, Henry Kaiser proved that it isn't. He paid $87,000,000 back to Uncle Sam which he had borrowed on a gamble that big business had branded as foolhardy.

Back in the early stages of World War II, Kaiser, then building ships at breakneck speed, was frequently short of steel. Finally, he decided to build a steel plant in Southern California, the first of its kind in that part of the nation. Heretofore, the big steel companies of the Pittsburgh - Cleveland - Youngstown area had dominated all markets, even supplying the West Coast.

They argued that the West was too sparsely populated to support a steel industry of its own, flatly refused to expand in that region. At Geneva, Utah, the U. S. Government, contending that the big steel companies were wrong, pioneered its own plant for western operation.

But even farther west, and without government subsidy, Kaiser erected the Fontana Steel Mill, wholly owned by himself though financed with a wartime loan of $123,805,000.

After the war, when competitors expected Fontana to close down, Kaiser expanded. He has paid $21,000,000 to the RFC on interest alone, expanded his plant with $30,000,000 of private funds, and the other day arranged to repay all the money borrowed from the government.

Kaiser's gamble in private enterprise is in contrast to various other private steel companies which waited for the government to set up its own plants, then bought them in after the war, for a song.

U. S. Steel, for instance, purchased the government's Geneva, Utah, plant for 20 cents on the dollar. It also purchased Uncle Sam's steel mills at Homestead and Duquesne, Pa., for 33 cents on the dollar, and a blast furnace at Duluth, Minn., for 24 cents. The total government investment in these plants was $527,000,000. The price paid for them by U. S. Steel after the war was $148,000,000.

Republic Steel also bought the government's South Chicago plant for 30 cents on the dollar, while Inland Steel picked up two government blast furnaces at Indiana Harbor, Ind., for 38 cents on the dollar.

Meanwhile, Kaiser, the man who believes that private initiative is not dead, paid 100 cents on the dollar, plus interest.

Taft's Press Relations

Ohio Senator Bob Taft is not always smart with his public relations, but he was smart enough the other day not to get caught in a radio debate with forthright and possibly unfriendly newsmen.

Scheduled to appear on a coast-to-coast network "Reporters Roundup," Taft was to be interviewed by Joe Loftus of the New York Times, Sam Stavisky of the Washington Post, and Cecil Brown of the Mutual Broadcasting System. At the last minute, however, Taft telephoned the program director and refused to appear unless he could name his own reporters.

In order to save the program from cancellation, Taft was given his way. He selected four Ohio newsmen whom he knew personally—Alvin Silverman of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, Jack Kennon of the Cleveland News, Richard Maher of the Cleveland Press, and Clingan Jackson of the Youngstown Vindicator. They dealt with him gently.

Texas Tax Haven

If you want to cheat Uncle Sam on your income taxes and not go to jail, you should arrange to do your cheating in Texas. That is the private advice sorrowfully given by Internal Revenue agents as a result of lenient convictions handed down by federal judges in Texas.

The latest of these came from U. S. Judge T. Whitefield Davidson of Dallas, when he imposed a fine of only $20,000 on E. P. Mead, millionaire Texas bakery owner and one-time president of the Gideon Society which distributes Bibles in hotel rooms.

Mead had cheated the government out of $245,593.78—though part of this had been outlawed for criminal prosecution due to the fact that the T-men were a little slow in catching up with Mead and the Statute of Limitations had run out.

Mead had operated a neat fraud scheme whereby invoices for bakery products bore instructions to pay Mead personally, rather than the bakery. Thus he concealed a large part of his income.

When he went to trial, however, Mead hired one of the most politically potent attorneys in Texas, J. Percy Rice. And when Mead appeared before Judge Whitfield, the Judge asked him this amazing question:

"It is difficult to arrive at a penalty, but the court will ask Mr. Mead, for the purpose of determining his financial ability—would you rather pay a $20,000 fine, or pay $5,000 to $10,000 and take a short probated sentence?"

"I would rather pay the $20,000," Mead replied.

Whereupon the Judge assessed the fine and Mead walked out of court.

NOTE—Judge Davidson is the same judge who refused to extradite Freeman Burford, the big oilman indicted in Louisiana in conjunction with the bribing of ex-Governor Dick Leche of Louisiana. Leche was given a 10-year sentence, but Burford, thanks to Judge Davidson, was never extradited from Texas back to Louisiana to stand trial.

Truman Record Figures In November Election

By MARK SULLIVAN

IF THE national election that will take place one month from yesterday were a Presidential one, and if Mr. Truman were a candidate to succeed himself, the principal issue would be readily apparent. It would be the record of the Truman administration. This might be modified to some extent by the factor that served President Roosevelt well in his 1944 campaign for re-election. We were in the very midst of a world war then and many voters were susceptible to an appeal which expressed itself as "don't change horses in the middle of the stream." It is doubtful, however, whether many voters think of the country as in such a state of crisis and urgency as to justify the "don't change horses" argument.

Truman Record Up

To speculate on what might be if Mr. Truman were running for re-election next month is not wholly beside the point. Actually, Mr. Truman and his record figure in the present campaign in important ways. One of these is apparent when partisans of the Administration tacitly or expressly urge voters to elect a congress that will support the President's program. One variation of this is extremely vocal. Spokesmen of political action on the part of labor urge their following to defeat members of Congress who in the present session did not support President Truman's program. Concretely and with especial vehemence they urge defeat of members of Congress who frustratet one detail of Mr. Truman's program, his determined attempt to bring about repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law.

This aspect of the campaign is especially conspicuous in Ohio. There Sen. Taft, running for re-election, incurs attack for a double reason—he was at once an author of the Taft-Hartley law and the leader of successful opposition in Congress to Mr. Truman's demands for repeal of it. In more than a symbolic sense the fight in Ohio is between Sen. Taft and President Truman. The situation that makes the Ohio contest a national one is suggested by an epithet used by some of Mr. Taft's opponents, derisively they call him "Mr. Republican."

In a strangely paradoxical way, President Truman is in the campaign just because he is not in it. He is in office and no action by voters can terminate his tenure for two years and three months, until the end of his term in January, 1953. How this condition may work out in voters' minds is intricately difficult to surmise. There may be voters who, in a direct election on the Presidency, would vote to terminate Mr. Truman's tenure and would do so aggressively—but who, considering that Mr. Truman must remain President for two-years and three months would be relatively indifferent about the outcome of the Congressional election.

Chamberlain Dropped

There is a partial and perverse analogy between the position of President Truman and that of Prime Minister Chamberlain of Britain preceding the second world war. Chamberlain followed toward Hitler a course which critics called "appeasement" but which Chamberlain said would result in "peace in our time." When the end of the course was war, Chamberlain was dropped from leadership and Winston Churchill substituted.

In the case of Mr. Truman, he has been responsible for our relations with Communist Russia during the five years since he took office. His responsibility is increased and made conspicuous by the fact that the Republicans in Congress during the period practiced non-partisan support of the Administration's foreign policy. At the end of the five years, the present stage of our relations with Communist Russia is war with prospect of more and vast preparations for more. In this condition, if the coming election were a Presidential one, with Mr. Truman running for re-election, would the country be likely to continue him in responsibility for our relations with Communist Russia?

Since the coming election is a Congressional one, and Mr. Truman will be in office during the two years which compose the term of the Congress about to be elected, the question in the election is what kind of Congress? As bearing on our relations with Communist Russia and foreign relations generally, there is a condition evident though

Coming Ohio Voting May Have Nation-Wide Effect

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The people of the State of Ohio have before them a decision this autumn which may well affect the course of events in the United States for many generations to come.

For if the people of Ohio decide that the labor unions shall choose the senators from Ohio hereafter, members of Congress from other states may feel that this is the way to get elected. Out of it could come a government controlled primarily by labor unions.

The Democratic Party in Ohio is in the position of accepting the labor-union thesis. It means that, in due time, the party machinery will be taken over by the labor unions and nominations hereafter will be dictated by the union bosses.

The amount of money and organization pressure being put into the State of Ohio by the labor-union chiefs in order to punish Senator Robert Taft for his authorship of the Taft-Hartley Act is unprecedented in any senatorial election in history. For if the Republicans make some gains in both the Senate and House in November, this will be less impressive than the defeat of Senator Taft.

Taft More Palatable

Mr. Taft's principal crime evidently is that he tried to hold the scales even between management and labor. His own bill passed by the Senate was far more palatable to labor than the one which was sponsored by Representative Hartley but which had to be taken into consideration by the joint conference committee in writing the final law. The labor unions nevertheless have concentrated their attack on Senator Taft just the same.

Throughout the entire session of Congress which recently ended, the labor-union leaders were so completely in control of the committees on labor matters that not a single vote on amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act was permitted in either house. The plain purpose was to make an issue of the law as it was passed, even though the need for some amendments was conceded and a majority stood ready to adopt such improvements.

The substitute which the labor unions want, of course, is the old Wagner Act, which was a one-sided affair which caused plenty of labor-management friction.

The attack on Senator Taft is not being confined by the labor-union leaders merely to the labor law. Instead, he is being attacked as aiding the cause of Moscow and Communism. Though these labor leaders are quick to excoriate McCarty of Wisconsin, they do not hesitate to use his methods of denunciation in a political campaign.

The same labor leaders who are trying to make out that the Taft votes on international questions would have been of assistance to Russia if a majority had voted with him on certain issues do not mention the manner in which communists for years infiltrated American labor unions.

Nothing About Pressman

Thus one hears not a word in Ohio from the labor speakers about Leo Pressman, who served as counsel for the CIO in the days when it was pushing its radical programs in Congress. Mr. Pressman confessed recently to the House Committee on Un-American Activities that he had been a member of the communist party in the 1930's and for some time thereafter.

What part did Mr. Pressman's advice along the communist line of political and economic philosophy play in the policies of the CIO? When the CIO, in recent years, under its present leadership, expelled the communists from its ranks whenever it was able to detect them, what did it learn of communist influence in labor-union policies? Instead of telling the whole story of communism in labor's ranks, the labor chiefs have decided to try to fasten on Senator Taft the accusation that he plays Russia's game.

This unjust and malicious kind of attack apparently captured the mind of Averell Harriman, the president's assistant on foreign policy. Did the labor leaders motivate the writing of that speech? It was not just a coincidence that the Harriman address was delivered at a convention of the AFL.

The strategy of the labor leaders has been clear ever since last summer when they found that many independent voters would not be swayed on labor-union issues alone so they tried instead to pin the label of aid-to-Russia on one of the most patriotic and conscientious public servants in America.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Lucky Luciano

ONE OF THE vilest racketeers to operate in the United States was Lucky Luciano, dope peddler, white slaver and general criminal. He is now in Italy and is suspected of heading a dope export gang. An attempt is being made to use his commutation and deportation for political purposes, to give the impression that there was a tieup between Tom Dewey and Luciano. So here are the facts:

After Luciano had been convicted of white slavery and had served about 10 years of a 30 to 50-year term, he was deported to Italy. Such deportation is a usual procedure in New York State, the theory being that should the culprit ever return to this country, he would have to be regarded as an escaped criminal and would be required to complete his full term, in Luciano's case, 50 years.

The official report states:

"Charles Luciano . . . was arrested April 4, 1936, and is now completing ten years in prison. Luciano was deportable to Italy. He was leader of the syndicate which supervised and gave orders relating to the operation of a vice combine which booked women for houses of prostitution and provided other services incidental to the operation of houses of prostitution. He has previously been convicted of the possession of drugs. He is now 48 years old. Upon the entry of the United States into the war, Luciano's aid was sought by the armed services in inducing others to provide information concerning possible enemy attacks. It appears that he cooperated in such efforts but that the actual value of the information secured is not clear. His record in prison is reported as wholly satisfactory."

The theory in support of this concept of deporting long-term criminals is a very simple one. These aliens are a high cost upon the taxpayer; send them back to the country from which they came and make it impossible for them ever to return to the United States; make it impossible for them to use their wealth and influence to get a pardon.

In 1929, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt exercised the power of commutation of sentence and deportation once; in 1930, six times; in 1931, five times; in 1932, six times.

Governor Herbert Lehman exercised this power in 1933 twice; in 1934, once; in 1935, twice; in 1937, 12 times. In 1938, 1939 and 1941, Governor Lehman exercised this function once each year, perhaps because as the world went to war there were few countries to which these men could be deported.

Between the administrations of Herbert Lehman and Thomas E. Dewey, Charles Poletti served as governor of New York State for 29 days, during which period he granted 15 commutations of sentence, but no deportations. Of these, three were granted without any investigation by the parole board and two concerning which the parole board had not recommended clemency.

Three cases in the Poletti regime involved Alexander Hoffman, CIO organizer, who had been convicted of arson and conspiracy in labor terrorism in the dry-cleaning industry; also Mrs. Pearl Spivak and Carl Gilmore. These were strictly cases in which criminals worked in labor unions and had been convicted in connection with crimes committed during labor union activity. Poletti's commutation of sentences outraged public opinion and wrecked his political career.

In 1946, Governor Thomas E. Dewey commuted the sentences of seven criminals, among them Lucky Luciano. In each case the commutation was recommended to the governor by the parole board. The deportations ordered were to Spain, 1; to Greece, 1; to Italy, 2; to Canada, 1; to China, 1; and to England, 1. Among these was the notorious Lucky Luciano. Under the terms of the commutation, he may never legally return to the United States, for should he enter this country, he would be seized as an escaped prisoner and imprisoned to serve his full term without further trial.

Lucky Luciano has, of course, tried to come back and extraordinarily powerful influence has been brought to bear to bring the head of the Mafia into this country. But all these efforts have been without avail. To make them successful, it would be necessary to get him a pardon, which would, of course, be a major public scandal. Luciano has never been pardoned; he has been kicked out of the United States.

Destroying A Border

More than three centuries before the time of Christ the Oriental scholar known as Pilpay or Bidpai observed that "possession was the strongest tenure of the law." It has been especially true in the negotiation of international disputes over borders and such that the final settlement has been strongly influenced by the actual physical situation, possession being a powerful argument.

Dealing with the problem of Korea, the United Nations must of necessity consider whether to continue the artificial division of the country at the 38th Parallel or destroy that dividing line. Now it appears that the line will have been destroyed in fact, or at the least substantially altered, before the diplomatic debate of the question is begun.

The arguments for wiping out the line are almost overwhelming, in any case. The division was created out of the blue sky by the heads of the Allied Powers as a marker between zones of military occupation. Whatever was in the minds of the Russians, it never was intended by the others that the division should endure beyond the time of establishing a native government. An appropriate occasion has been created for carrying out the original intent, which involves establishment, under UN supervision, of a single government for Korea. The dividing line would then vanish.

No Short Cut

A Chicago man, Edward Roeder, believes he has the secret of making those superb violins which the old masters like Stradivarius turned out. His secret is in a varnish he has discovered and which he thinks may be the same as that applied by the old-timers to give their violins a superlative tone. According to Roeder, this can be used on any old violin with excellent results.

Here is a suggestion that great violins can be made by assembly line methods, and it is erroneous. Stradivarius and others employed the most painstaking and intelligent craftsmanship in the construction of their violins. There is no substitute for it.

By the same argument, somebody might devise a gargle that would give a raucous larynx the tone of a Caruso.

The hurry-up methods of modern times have nearly deprived the world of the wonders of personal craftsmanship. These methods have made good products available to most people. Mass production is a great boon materially in terms of standard of living.

But the claim that mass production can equal in quality the devotion of personal attention to the fashioning of fine products cannot be sustained.

Color TV Impasse

The Federal Communications Commission several weeks ago cast its glove in front of the makers of television sets in this country. The set makers tossed it right back in the fact of the FCC.

Never has the FCC been in such an uncomfortable spot before. It assumed jurisdiction over the problem of deciding which of two or three full-color systems of TV broadcast should become the standard one. The two biggest rivals were the Columbia Broadcasting System and the Radio Corporation of America.

After exhaustive tests, the FCC decided the Columbia color system was best and told all manufacturers to switch over to it. There was a howl, because CBS color was the only system that couldn't be received on present black and white receiving sets. The decision had the effect of making all of the 8,000,000 sets in U. S. homes obsolete. The FGC order requested all set makers to say by October 1 that they would follow along.

Now the whole industry—excepting Columbia—is lined up against the FCC. 'It is obvious the FCC acted hastily in not giving other systems time to bring about technical improvements. After all, the "public interest" isn't being served too well by outmoding several million sets by executive fiat.

To Make More Steel

It is good news that the steel industry plans to expand its capacity by nearly 10 per cent during the next two years. With armament spending being stepped up, it is obvious that the demand for steel will increase.

On the basis of data collected by the American Iron and Steel Institute, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer estimates that annual capacity should reach 109,963,000 tons by December 31, 1952. On July 1 this year annual capacity was rated at 100,563,000 tons, an all-time high.

The greatest output recorded during World War II —the year was 1944—was 16,000,000 tons less than the expected 1952 total. The most steel ever used for military purposes in a single war year—also 1944—was 53,000,000 tons, or less than half of the prospective capacity to be reached in 1952.

The statistics cited by Secretary Sawyer also reflect the fact that the industry has been expanding its capacity since World War II ended. That is the best reason for feeling confident that the plants now projected will materialize.

Profitable Circle

Strikes in Finnish factories have caused delays in war reparations shipments to Russia, as a result of which Finland must pay a penalty for failure to maintain scheduled deliveries. No doubt a reasonable amount of the penalty money will be promptly sent back to Finland, to communist groups who can use it to foment other strikes and cause new delays which will result in further penalty payments to Moscow.

Hygiene During Pregnancy

MOST of the superstitions concerning pregnancy have been discarded because the majority of women have the intelligence to recognize how silly they are. The modern expectant mother never carries the rattle of a rattlesnake in a little black silk cloth to hasten confinement. She cuts her nails because she realizes that this will never harm the baby she is carrying. She is not afraid to raise her arms; she knows that the unborn babe cannot see her and will not try to follow suit. One old wives' tale discouraged elevating her arms as this was said to be the manner in which the cord becomes entagled about the neck.

Stories about birthmarks are plentiful; being scared by a horse or mouse will not leave the contour of these animals on the skin, because these blemishes are caused by a developmental disturbance. Nothing is transmitted thru the nervous system because there is no connection between the two; the umbilical cord and placenta cannot send nerve impulses.

At the first sign of pregnancy most women report to their physicians for a thoro examination and blood tests. They want to be as healthy as possible while the child is forming. After all, the foundation comes first and unless it is firm the superstructure suffers. The diet that is recommended usually is simple but contains all the essential food elements. Cleanliness also is stressed, as well as proper elimination. Instructions on the care of the breasts are required because attention to these structures at this time may have an effect on the feeding problems of the infant later on.

Little problems are likely to arise. Should round garters be worn? Most physicians agree that they should not because constriction may influence the circulation of the legs. To hold up the stockings, a loose fitting garter belt is preferred. What about an abdominal support? The young lady who never gave birth before seldom needs a girdle during pregnancy unless she is accustomed to wearing one and has come to depend upon it. On the other hand, the abdomen may be overstretched in those who have had children previously. That is why the second or third pregnancy is poorly supported and the babe often is carried lower than in former pregnancies—not because the child is going to be a boy. A good foundation garment in these cases helps to relieve low backache and the altered posture caused by shifting of the center of gravity.

Exercise requires common sense. The woman who is athletically inclined should not become completely inactive; nor should the sedentary individual or office worker become an athlete. If there is any doubt, walking in the open air is as good as anything. Problems relative to vacations and automobile trips are individual ones and should be considered accordingly.

J. D. writes: Does albumin in the urine lead to kidney stones?

REPLY

No. Many individuals with kidney stones never have albuminuria. Furthermore, those who are excreting albumin are not necessarily the ones to develop renal calculi.

BURNING TOES

Mrs. M. T. writes: What causes the toes to burn off and on?

REPLY

So long as they stay on and don't burn off, you have nothing to worry about. This sensation develops in periods when the blood vessels of the skin of the feet are fully dilated, causing congestion in the tissues. This occurs in erythromelalgia, for example, as an abnormal response to heat. By getting off the feet every now and then, and doing everything possible to keep the toes cool by leaving them uncovered at night, the symptom is less likely to occur. An aspirin tablet at night might offer relief, when discomfort is sufficient to interfere with sleep.

BLADDER ABNORMALITY

J. T. writes: Does a prolapsed bladder call for surgery?

REPLY

Only if the condition is marked or is producing symptoms. In women, this difficulty usually results from tearing incident to childbirth. Infection is a common aftermath of prolapse, especially when the organ fails to empty completely.

SHAVING AND HICCUPS

G. T. writes: Each time I use the electric razor I start hiccuping. What is the reason?

REPLY

This is a new one on me and I doubt if the manufacturers of electric razors can answer it; even those who believe that two, three, and now four heads are better than one.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—With manpower the most precious thing in the armed forces, some of the brass hats still don't seem to realize that the G.I.'s time is valuable. Every hour he is kept in useless lineups cuts down his training period and his preparation for the battle front.

The other day at Camp Pickett, Va., for instance, the entire camp was herded on the parade ground, then kept waiting two hours to hear a pep talk by Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army Chief of Staff.

Camp commanders seemed to think the G. I.'s had no more important training than to stand two hours waiting for the General to arrive.

Collins, a great fighting officer, gave a forthright talk, but left one sentence ringing in G.I. ears

"Don't misunderstand me," he said, "I'm a great believer in rank and the prestige of rank."

While he was speaking, two Congressmen also happened to drop in at Camp Pickett—Democrats Wayne Hays of Ohio and John McGuire of Connecticut. Having no brass to flash, all they got was the runaround. Finally, they located a lieutenant colonel at headquarters and told him whom they wanted to visit.

"You can't see anyone," tartly retorted the officer. "These fellows are busy. They're being marched to the parade ground to hear General Collins."

"What's to prevent us from going over?" asked Congressman Hays.

"We're all busy," mumbled the lieutenant colonel. "You can park your car and walk over to the hill if you want to."

The two Congressmen stayed to see how the draftees were being treated, and later got a more hospitable reception from Camp Pickett officers. They have decided however, that it would be a good idea to drop in at the other camps for Congressional inspections.

NOTE—What Gen. Collins was driving at when he emphasized the importance of rank was that every enlisted man has a chance to be promoted, and that junior officers and non-coms are the backbone of the army.

Kaiser's Gamble

Private enterprise, according to some people, is dead. But the other day, Henry Kaiser proved that it isn't. He paid $87,000,000 back to Uncle Sam which he had borrowed on a gamble that big business had branded as foolhardy.

Back in the early stages of World War II, Kaiser, then building ships at breakneck speed, was frequently short of steel. Finally, he decided to build a steel plant in Southern California, the first of its kind in that part of the nation. Heretofore, the big steel companies of the Pittsburgh - Cleveland - Youngstown area had dominated all markets, even supplying the West Coast.

They argued that the West was too sparsely populated to support a steel industry of its own, flatly refused to expand in that region. At Geneva, Utah, the U. S. Government, contending that the big steel companies were wrong, pioneered its own plant for western operation.

But even farther west, and without government subsidy, Kaiser erected the Fontana Steel Mill, wholly owned by himself though financed with a wartime loan of $123,805,000.

After the war, when competitors expected Fontana to close down, Kaiser expanded. He has paid $21,000,000 to the RFC on interest alone, expanded his plant with $30,000,000 of private funds, and the other day arranged to repay all the money borrowed from the government.

Kaiser's gamble in private enterprise is in contrast to various other private steel companies which waited for the government to set up its own plants, then bought them in after the war, for a song.

U. S. Steel, for instance, purchased the government's Geneva, Utah, plant for 20 cents on the dollar. It also purchased Uncle Sam's steel mills at Homestead and Duquesne, Pa., for 33 cents on the dollar, and a blast furnace at Duluth, Minn., for 24 cents. The total government investment in these plants was $527,000,000. The price paid for them by U. S. Steel after the war was $148,000,000.

Republic Steel also bought the government's South Chicago plant for 30 cents on the dollar, while Inland Steel picked up two government blast furnaces at Indiana Harbor, Ind., for 38 cents on the dollar.

Meanwhile, Kaiser, the man who believes that private initiative is not dead, paid 100 cents on the dollar, plus interest.

Taft's Press Relations

Ohio Senator Bob Taft is not always smart with his public relations, but he was smart enough the other day not to get caught in a radio debate with forthright and possibly unfriendly newsmen.

Scheduled to appear on a coast-to-coast network "Reporters Roundup," Taft was to be interviewed by Joe Loftus of the New York Times, Sam Stavisky of the Washington Post, and Cecil Brown of the Mutual Broadcasting System. At the last minute, however, Taft telephoned the program director and refused to appear unless he could name his own reporters.

In order to save the program from cancellation, Taft was given his way. He selected four Ohio newsmen whom he knew personally—Alvin Silverman of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, Jack Kennon of the Cleveland News, Richard Maher of the Cleveland Press, and Clingan Jackson of the Youngstown Vindicator. They dealt with him gently.

Texas Tax Haven

If you want to cheat Uncle Sam on your income taxes and not go to jail, you should arrange to do your cheating in Texas. That is the private advice sorrowfully given by Internal Revenue agents as a result of lenient convictions handed down by federal judges in Texas.

The latest of these came from U. S. Judge T. Whitefield Davidson of Dallas, when he imposed a fine of only $20,000 on E. P. Mead, millionaire Texas bakery owner and one-time president of the Gideon Society which distributes Bibles in hotel rooms.

Mead had cheated the government out of $245,593.78—though part of this had been outlawed for criminal prosecution due to the fact that the T-men were a little slow in catching up with Mead and the Statute of Limitations had run out.

Mead had operated a neat fraud scheme whereby invoices for bakery products bore instructions to pay Mead personally, rather than the bakery. Thus he concealed a large part of his income.

When he went to trial, however, Mead hired one of the most politically potent attorneys in Texas, J. Percy Rice. And when Mead appeared before Judge Whitfield, the Judge asked him this amazing question:

"It is difficult to arrive at a penalty, but the court will ask Mr. Mead, for the purpose of determining his financial ability—would you rather pay a $20,000 fine, or pay $5,000 to $10,000 and take a short probated sentence?"

"I would rather pay the $20,000," Mead replied.

Whereupon the Judge assessed the fine and Mead walked out of court.

NOTE—Judge Davidson is the same judge who refused to extradite Freeman Burford, the big oilman indicted in Louisiana in conjunction with the bribing of ex-Governor Dick Leche of Louisiana. Leche was given a 10-year sentence, but Burford, thanks to Judge Davidson, was never extradited from Texas back to Louisiana to stand trial.

Truman Record Figures In November Election

By MARK SULLIVAN

IF THE national election that will take place one month from yesterday were a Presidential one, and if Mr. Truman were a candidate to succeed himself, the principal issue would be readily apparent. It would be the record of the Truman administration. This might be modified to some extent by the factor that served President Roosevelt well in his 1944 campaign for re-election. We were in the very midst of a world war then and many voters were susceptible to an appeal which expressed itself as "don't change horses in the middle of the stream." It is doubtful, however, whether many voters think of the country as in such a state of crisis and urgency as to justify the "don't change horses" argument.

Truman Record Up

To speculate on what might be if Mr. Truman were running for re-election next month is not wholly beside the point. Actually, Mr. Truman and his record figure in the present campaign in important ways. One of these is apparent when partisans of the Administration tacitly or expressly urge voters to elect a congress that will support the President's program. One variation of this is extremely vocal. Spokesmen of political action on the part of labor urge their following to defeat members of Congress who in the present session did not support President Truman's program. Concretely and with especial vehemence they urge defeat of members of Congress who frustratet one detail of Mr. Truman's program, his determined attempt to bring about repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law.

This aspect of the campaign is especially conspicuous in Ohio. There Sen. Taft, running for re-election, incurs attack for a double reason—he was at once an author of the Taft-Hartley law and the leader of successful opposition in Congress to Mr. Truman's demands for repeal of it. In more than a symbolic sense the fight in Ohio is between Sen. Taft and President Truman. The situation that makes the Ohio contest a national one is suggested by an epithet used by some of Mr. Taft's opponents, derisively they call him "Mr. Republican."

In a strangely paradoxical way, President Truman is in the campaign just because he is not in it. He is in office and no action by voters can terminate his tenure for two years and three months, until the end of his term in January, 1953. How this condition may work out in voters' minds is intricately difficult to surmise. There may be voters who, in a direct election on the Presidency, would vote to terminate Mr. Truman's tenure and would do so aggressively—but who, considering that Mr. Truman must remain President for two-years and three months would be relatively indifferent about the outcome of the Congressional election.

Chamberlain Dropped

There is a partial and perverse analogy between the position of President Truman and that of Prime Minister Chamberlain of Britain preceding the second world war. Chamberlain followed toward Hitler a course which critics called "appeasement" but which Chamberlain said would result in "peace in our time." When the end of the course was war, Chamberlain was dropped from leadership and Winston Churchill substituted.

In the case of Mr. Truman, he has been responsible for our relations with Communist Russia during the five years since he took office. His responsibility is increased and made conspicuous by the fact that the Republicans in Congress during the period practiced non-partisan support of the Administration's foreign policy. At the end of the five years, the present stage of our relations with Communist Russia is war with prospect of more and vast preparations for more. In this condition, if the coming election were a Presidential one, with Mr. Truman running for re-election, would the country be likely to continue him in responsibility for our relations with Communist Russia?

Since the coming election is a Congressional one, and Mr. Truman will be in office during the two years which compose the term of the Congress about to be elected, the question in the election is what kind of Congress? As bearing on our relations with Communist Russia and foreign relations generally, there is a condition evident though

Coming Ohio Voting May Have Nation-Wide Effect

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The people of the State of Ohio have before them a decision this autumn which may well affect the course of events in the United States for many generations to come.

For if the people of Ohio decide that the labor unions shall choose the senators from Ohio hereafter, members of Congress from other states may feel that this is the way to get elected. Out of it could come a government controlled primarily by labor unions.

The Democratic Party in Ohio is in the position of accepting the labor-union thesis. It means that, in due time, the party machinery will be taken over by the labor unions and nominations hereafter will be dictated by the union bosses.

The amount of money and organization pressure being put into the State of Ohio by the labor-union chiefs in order to punish Senator Robert Taft for his authorship of the Taft-Hartley Act is unprecedented in any senatorial election in history. For if the Republicans make some gains in both the Senate and House in November, this will be less impressive than the defeat of Senator Taft.

Taft More Palatable

Mr. Taft's principal crime evidently is that he tried to hold the scales even between management and labor. His own bill passed by the Senate was far more palatable to labor than the one which was sponsored by Representative Hartley but which had to be taken into consideration by the joint conference committee in writing the final law. The labor unions nevertheless have concentrated their attack on Senator Taft just the same.

Throughout the entire session of Congress which recently ended, the labor-union leaders were so completely in control of the committees on labor matters that not a single vote on amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act was permitted in either house. The plain purpose was to make an issue of the law as it was passed, even though the need for some amendments was conceded and a majority stood ready to adopt such improvements.

The substitute which the labor unions want, of course, is the old Wagner Act, which was a one-sided affair which caused plenty of labor-management friction.

The attack on Senator Taft is not being confined by the labor-union leaders merely to the labor law. Instead, he is being attacked as aiding the cause of Moscow and Communism. Though these labor leaders are quick to excoriate McCarty of Wisconsin, they do not hesitate to use his methods of denunciation in a political campaign.

The same labor leaders who are trying to make out that the Taft votes on international questions would have been of assistance to Russia if a majority had voted with him on certain issues do not mention the manner in which communists for years infiltrated American labor unions.

Nothing About Pressman

Thus one hears not a word in Ohio from the labor speakers about Leo Pressman, who served as counsel for the CIO in the days when it was pushing its radical programs in Congress. Mr. Pressman confessed recently to the House Committee on Un-American Activities that he had been a member of the communist party in the 1930's and for some time thereafter.

What part did Mr. Pressman's advice along the communist line of political and economic philosophy play in the policies of the CIO? When the CIO, in recent years, under its present leadership, expelled the communists from its ranks whenever it was able to detect them, what did it learn of communist influence in labor-union policies? Instead of telling the whole story of communism in labor's ranks, the labor chiefs have decided to try to fasten on Senator Taft the accusation that he plays Russia's game.

This unjust and malicious kind of attack apparently captured the mind of Averell Harriman, the president's assistant on foreign policy. Did the labor leaders motivate the writing of that speech? It was not just a coincidence that the Harriman address was delivered at a convention of the AFL.

The strategy of the labor leaders has been clear ever since last summer when they found that many independent voters would not be swayed on labor-union issues alone so they tried instead to pin the label of aid-to-Russia on one of the most patriotic and conscientious public servants in America.

ONE OF THE vilest racketeers to operate in the United States was Lucky Luciano, dope peddler, white slaver and general criminal. He is now in Italy and is suspected of heading a dope export gang. An attempt is being made to use his commutation and deportation for political purposes, to give the impression that there was a tieup between Tom Dewey and Luciano. So here are the facts:

After Luciano had been convicted of white slavery and had served about 10 years of a 30 to 50-year term, he was deported to Italy. Such deportation is a usual procedure in New York State, the theory being that should the culprit ever return to this country, he would have to be regarded as an escaped criminal and would be required to complete his full term, in Luciano's case, 50 years.

The official report states:

"Charles Luciano . . . was arrested April 4, 1936, and is now completing ten years in prison. Luciano was deportable to Italy. He was leader of the syndicate which supervised and gave orders relating to the operation of a vice combine which booked women for houses of prostitution and provided other services incidental to the operation of houses of prostitution. He has previously been convicted of the possession of drugs. He is now 48 years old. Upon the entry of the United States into the war, Luciano's aid was sought by the armed services in inducing others to provide information concerning possible enemy attacks. It appears that he cooperated in such efforts but that the actual value of the information secured is not clear. His record in prison is reported as wholly satisfactory."

The theory in support of this concept of deporting long-term criminals is a very simple one. These aliens are a high cost upon the taxpayer; send them back to the country from which they came and make it impossible for them ever to return to the United States; make it impossible for them to use their wealth and influence to get a pardon.

In 1929, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt exercised the power of commutation of sentence and deportation once; in 1930, six times; in 1931, five times; in 1932, six times.

Governor Herbert Lehman exercised this power in 1933 twice; in 1934, once; in 1935, twice; in 1937, 12 times. In 1938, 1939 and 1941, Governor Lehman exercised this function once each year, perhaps because as the world went to war there were few countries to which these men could be deported.

Between the administrations of Herbert Lehman and Thomas E. Dewey, Charles Poletti served as governor of New York State for 29 days, during which period he granted 15 commutations of sentence, but no deportations. Of these, three were granted without any investigation by the parole board and two concerning which the parole board had not recommended clemency.

Three cases in the Poletti regime involved Alexander Hoffman, CIO organizer, who had been convicted of arson and conspiracy in labor terrorism in the dry-cleaning industry; also Mrs. Pearl Spivak and Carl Gilmore. These were strictly cases in which criminals worked in labor unions and had been convicted in connection with crimes committed during labor union activity. Poletti's commutation of sentences outraged public opinion and wrecked his political career.

In 1946, Governor Thomas E. Dewey commuted the sentences of seven criminals, among them Lucky Luciano. In each case the commutation was recommended to the governor by the parole board. The deportations ordered were to Spain, 1; to Greece, 1; to Italy, 2; to Canada, 1; to China, 1; and to England, 1. Among these was the notorious Lucky Luciano. Under the terms of the commutation, he may never legally return to the United States, for should he enter this country, he would be seized as an escaped prisoner and imprisoned to serve his full term without further trial.

Lucky Luciano has, of course, tried to come back and extraordinarily powerful influence has been brought to bear to bring the head of the Mafia into this country. But all these efforts have been without avail. To make them successful, it would be necessary to get him a pardon, which would, of course, be a major public scandal. Luciano has never been pardoned; he has been kicked out of the United States.

Ruth E. Koontz Becomes Bride Of Merle Diehl

Ceremony Performed In Rainesburg, Pa.

Miss Ruth E. Koontz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Koontz, Bedford, Pa., became the bride of Merle Diehl, son of Mrs. Mary Diehl, also of Bedford, October 6. The double ring ceremony was solemnized at 12:30 in Zion Reformed Church, Rainesburg, Pa., with Rev. Bert E. Wynn officiating.

White gladioli against a background of evergreens and candles decorated the church. A program of nuptial music was played by Mrs. Roy Diehl, cousin of the bride. Miss Jean Baker was soloist.

Mrs. Palmer Pittman was her sister's matron of honor and Miss Eleanor Koontz was maid of honor. Raymond Diehl served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Stanley Koontz, Jr., brother of the bride; and Archibold McPherson, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white slipper satin made with a fitted bodice, long tapering sleeves and full skirt ending in a circular train. Her veil of illusion was held by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried her grandmother's Bible covered with lace, white roses and a spray of stephanotis.

Her attendants wore gowns with fitted bodice, short sleeves and full skirts. Each wore matching veils and mitts and carried a colonial bouquet of pompons. Mrs. Pittman was in dusty blue and Miss Koontz, dusty rose.

Mrs. Koontz was attired in a dark brown dress with green accessories and had a corsage of yellow pompons. Mrs. Diehl chose an aqua dress with black accessories for her son's wedding. With it she had a corsage of pink pompons.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. Koontz at their home for the bridal party and immediate relatives, after which the couple left for a wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a hunter's green suit with black accessories.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Bedford High School. The former has been assisting her parents on their dairy and poultry farm. The latter, a veteran of World War II, is manager of the Kay-Wood Products, Inc., in Manns Choice, Pa.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

WHAT have horseshoe, turtle, Mandarin, shawl, boat sweetheart surplice, plunging, irregular, portrait and capelet in common? If you answer that they are all trend-setting necklines, you're pretty well informed about current fashion details.

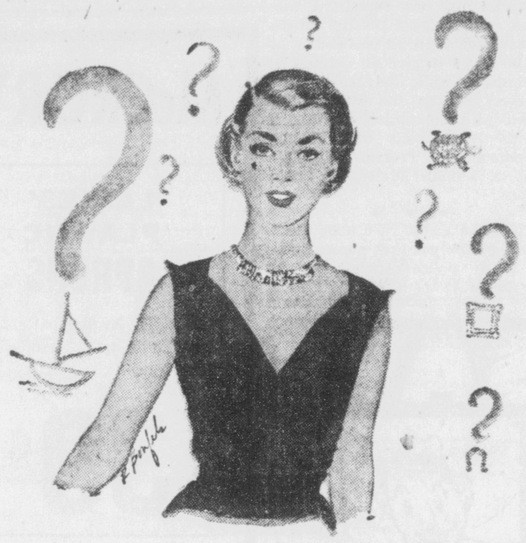
What have they all got in common for you? If your answer is "Nothing," you not only can go to the head of the class but, you may also be excused from the rest of today's lesson. However if I caught you napping, the chances are that you're missing out on something far more important, for it concerns the necklines that are most flattering to you.

Which Should You Avoid?

Nothing can become a millstone around your neck faster than an unbecoming neckline. Every neckline you wear influences the shape of your face and the contour of your figure. Among the following groups, you'll find all the currently favored types as well as all you need to know to choose the ones that will help to make you the most attractive:

Group 1: This includes the horseshoe, capelet, boat and shawl. Are they round or angular in line? "Round," you say, and you're right. You can't read this column two days in a row without knowing that roundness makes roundness. Just more of the same! Only you know whether you want more or less curve in your cheek or your body.

Group 2: Plunging and sweetheart necklines form angles. Would you like some? These lines will also lengthen your face and elongate your figure. First word of caution: If you're a short girl, go for a modified version because the long plunge or deep sweetheart will cut your torso length in half and hence distort your figure. Second word: The sweetheart line accentuates a square chin and the plunging line, a pointed one.



The varied types of necklines offered in this season's showings are endless. But which ones are right for you?

Becoming to All

Group 3: Surplice and irregular necklines form diagonals. These are becoming to everybody because they slash across and cancel personal lines that are suspect.

Group 4: Mandarin and turtle necks? You guessed it! Only a long neck and an angular face can carry them off successfully.

Now you'll never be caught with an unflattering neckline again!

Selling Milk IS SELLING HEALTH!

Our service to this community has much in common with that of the medical profession.

The wholesome diet of American families—and the place of milk in that diet—has a lot to do with the high standard of health our country has achieved.

Because our product is essential to good health, we believe that every argument made against socialized medicine also could be made against a socialized dairy business.

In fact, every great Nation that has tried socialized medicine has gone on to socialize other businesses and other industries and other professions.

America has no place for permanent Government controls borrowed from foreign lands. It has no place for socialized medicine, socialized railroads, socialized power, socialized manufacturing . . . or socialized dairies!

We believe—and all experience proves—that free men do the best job of running industry, professions and business. That's why today we publicly reaffirm our faith in American initiative, American progress, American FREEDOM.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

WHAT have horseshoe, turtle, Mandarin, shawl, boat sweetheart surplice, plunging, irregular, portrait and capelet in common? If you answer that they are all trend-setting necklines, you're pretty well informed about current fashion details.

What have they all got in common for you? If your answer is "Nothing," you not only can go to the head of the class but, you may also be excused from the rest of today's lesson. However if I caught you napping, the chances are that you're missing out on something far more important, for it concerns the necklines that are most flattering to you.

Which Should You Avoid?

Nothing can become a millstone around your neck faster than an unbecoming neckline. Every neckline you wear influences the shape of your face and the contour of your figure. Among the following groups, you'll find all the currently favored types as well as all you need to know to choose the ones that will help to make you the most attractive:

Group 1: This includes the horseshoe, capelet, boat and shawl. Are they round or angular in line? "Round," you say, and you're right. You can't read this column two days in a row without knowing that roundness makes roundness. Just more of the same! Only you know whether you want more or less curve in your cheek or your body.

Group 2: Plunging and sweetheart necklines form angles. Would you like some? These lines will also lengthen your face and elongate your figure. First word of caution: If you're a short girl, go for a modified version because the long plunge or deep sweetheart will cut your torso length in half and hence distort your figure. Second word: The sweetheart line accentuates a square chin and the plunging line, a pointed one.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, (INS)—A new international record for understatement was established the other day when the wife of Harry Gross, the Brooklyn bookie charged with paying a million dollars a year in police bribes, said:

"If Harry is a gambler, as they say he is, all I can say is that through the centuries hundreds of people have gambled."

Hundreds the lady said.

Millions may have been a better word, though still a conservative estimate. And a lot of those millions bet with fellows like Gross and never gave a thought to the significance of the act. If anyone questioned the bettors, they answered with a shrug or "whats the difference between betting on a horse at the track or away from the track?"

Nobody had a dramatic answer to that one until acting Mayor Vincent Impellitteri of New York had the courage and wisdom to encourage Brooklyn District Attorney Miles F. McDonald to run the evidence in the Gross case—and then appointed Big Tom Murphy as the police chief that could do anything about it.

The shocking result is that New Yorkers, who took such pride in their police department, can no longer speak of "the finest" without raising doubt or derision. The main bulk of the New York police force remains scrupulously honest. But the enchantment has fled.

• — • — •

The cancerous growth of Gross' influence (an honest detective who arrested his brother was promptly broken) has affected the healthy flesh of the force and the money with which Gross corrupted a section of an internationally respected organization was provided not be gangster elements but by normal law-abiding citizens who still cannot comprehend that they fouled their nest.

Cops and detectives who sold out for as little as six dollars a week or for a television set, in effect ceased working for the people of New York. They went into the employ and under the control of a cynical enemy of the law. Today they know only shame, and it is a shame that they will be scored by their entire families as long as their sordid records remain on file.

The New York case will get bigger—it is beginning to enter it's political stage. There is every indication that President Truman's recent appointee as ambassador to Mexico, Bill O'Dwyer. will be called before the grand jury now examining witnesses produced by District Attorney McDonald. In all probability he will be asked to give an account of stewardship while mayor. Political observers feel that his denial of any knowledge of corruption will tend to provide Republicans with reasons to comment on Truman's appointment of a man admittedly unobservant.

While the Gross case boils messily out of the pot that concealed it, and guilty police officials race to take advantage of a peculiar looking 1943 court precedent which enabled certain courts to avoid departmental trials by returning with their booty, a large investigation looms on the New York crime scene.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, head of the Senate committee investigating the link between the big mobs of the land, will move his portable caucus room to New York on Wednesday. The Senator is out for bigger game than Gross. We shall see a great number of our more distinguished hoodlums, now apparently retired into more demure trades, parading to and from his witness chair.

In advance of his coming, Kefauver has had an alert five-man investigation team working in New

Local Soldier Hurt In Korea

The 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Davis, Pfc. Richard Davis, 328 Cecelia Street, has been wounded in Korea, according to word received by his parents from the Department of Defense.

A former student at Fort Hill High School, Pfc. Davis worked as a messenger for the Western Union Telegraph Company before entering the Army in January, 1948. He went overseas about two years ago.

His mother said he telephoned home Sunday night from San Francisco to report that he was not seriously wounded. He was returned to the states for additional medical treatment, and is expected to be transferred to an Army hospital closer to Cumberland.

Another area soldier, Pfc. Paul W. Tasker, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Tasker, Swanton, who was injured in Korea on September 2, is also being treated in a San Francisco hospital. He entered the service August 22, 1949, and was formerly stationed at Fort Knox, Ky.

John M. "Jack" Shriver, 409 Linden Street, has been recalled to active Army duty and will report Friday to Fort Campbell, K. He is ticket agent for the Western Maryland Railway here.

partially tacit in the Congress that now exists and probably throughout the country. If the present Congress were re-elected man for man it would take an increased share of responsibility in this field. Not only Republicans but Democrats have in the past felt disquiet about the assumption that Congress should give more or less unquestioning support to the Administration's foreign policies. Many Democrats as well as many Republicans who contributed to the overwhelming majorities which supported many Administration proposals have felt silent disquiet about some of them. They must now feel that their past disquiet was justified. The very fact that our relations with Communist Russia have come to a stage of war is an indictment of the way those relations have been conducted, and the reaction must include some self-reproach on the part of Congress.

4 Women Charge Mistreatment At County Home

Four women, one of them a recently discharged attendant of the county home, made serious charges of "neglect and mistreatment of patients" there at the meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday.

The meeting was opened with Mrs. Minnie B. Wilson, who was discharged by Robert Smith, superintendent of the county home, for allegedly not doing her work satisfactorily, demanding to know why she was fired.

Mrs. Wilson said her work had been satisfactory until she had refused to scrub floors after undergoing an illness.

Charge Mistreatment

Then she launched into a tirade against the way Mr. Smith and his wife conducted the county home. At one point she said patients were "mistreated and not allowed to rest in their beds during the day when they became tired."

Smith, who attended part of yesterday morning's session, said that all inmates in the county home were required to stay out of bed during the day as it is "a state regulation."

Then Mary Klosterman, Mrs. Graydon S. Dunlap and Geraldine Varner made charges that relatives and friends of theirs had been mistreated. They all said the Smiths did not properly conduct the institution.

In Shouting Stage

The meeting at one point or another reached the shouting stage with the women all trying to give their version of the situation at once.

Commissioners Charles N. Wilkinson and James Holmes informed the women their charges that some of the inmates of the county home were placed in Sylvan Retreat at the discretion of Smith were unfounded.

Finally, Commissioner Wilkinson informed the group that no progress was being made in resolving the dispute and he set Friday, October 20 at 2 p. m., for a meeting of officials of the institution, the board and the four women.

THE VOLUNTARY WAY IS THE AMERICAN WAY

Who Runs America?

the Congress? the President?

OR YOU AND THE MAN NEXT DOOR?

RUNNING AMERICA is the joint job of 150,000,000 people. It's the biggest job in the world today—keeping it running for liberty and for freedom. And the whole world's watching to see whether Americans can do it!

IN MUCH OF THE WORLD today, the people have resigned from running their own countries. Others have been quick to step in—first with promises of "security"—and then with whips and guns—to run things their way. The evidence is on every front page in the world, every day.

FREEDOM COMES UNDER ATTACK. The reality of war has made every American think hard about the things he's willing to work and fight for—and freedom leads the list.

But that freedom has been attacked here recently—just as it has been attacked in other parts of the world. One of the most serious threats to individual freedom has been the threat of Government-dominated Compulsory Health Insurance, falsely presented as a new guarantee of health "security" for everybody.

THE PEOPLE WEIGH THE FACTS. In the American manner, the people studied the case for Socialized Medicine—and the case against it.

They found that Government domination of the people's medical affairs under Compulsory Health Insurance means lower standards of medical care, higher payroll taxes, loss of incentive, damage to research, penalties for the provident, rewards for the improvident.

They found that no country on earth can surpass America's leadership in medical care and progress. They found that able doctors, teachers, nurses and scientists—working in laboratories where Science, not Politics, is master—are blazing dramatic new trails to health for Americans—and for the world.

THE "GRASS ROOTS" SIGNALS CONGRESS. In every community in the Nation, people stood up to be counted on this important issue. Thousands of local women's clubs, civic groups, farm, business, religious, taxpayer, medical, educational and patriotic organizations spoke out—giving the great United States Congress its unmistakable Grass Roots signal from home!

And ever watchful, ever sensitive to an alert people, The Congress saw that signal, and heard the people speak out, loud and plain. That's democracy in action. That's the American way!

Today among the 10,000 great organizations on militant public record against "Compulsory Health Insurance" are:

- General Federation of Women's Clubs
- American Farm Bureau Federation
- National Grange
- Veterans of Foreign Wars
- National Conference of Catholic Charities
- American Protestant Hospital Association
- American Legion
- National Association of Small Business Men
- United States Chamber of Commerce
- National Association of Retail Grocers
- National Retail Dry Goods Association
- American Bar Association

• Doctors of this Nation are grateful that the people refused to be wooed by the fantastic promises of this un-American excursion into State Socialism. • Doctors of America are dedicated to serve their fellow citizens at home and their comrades in uniform, wherever service to this Nation may take them. • And the thing they stand ready to fight for—to sacrifice for—to die for—is not the alien way of life of Socialism, but the prideful security of a free and self-reliant people!

THE VOLUNTARY WAY IS THE AMERICAN WAY!

• Throughout the Nation, free men and women, working and planning together, are finding the American answer to every question of medical service, care and cost. Hundreds of Voluntary Health Insurance Plans are in healthy competition—sponsored by doctors, insurance companies, hospitals, fraternal organizations—by industry, agriculture and labor. • Today in America—70 million people are protected by Voluntary Health Insurance! • Throughout the Nation, families are insuring themselves against the major costs of illness—at reasonable, budget-basis prices. Voluntary Health Insurance takes the economic shock out of illness. Protect your family now. • For information, ask your doctor—or your insurance man.

An American's greatest heritage is the right to learn the facts—and to speak his mind. Maintained with honor and used with sincerity—that right will guarantee forever that the Congress? the President?

OR YOU AND THE MAN NEXT DOOR?

RUNNING AMERICA is the joint job of 150,000,000 people. It's the biggest job in the world today—keeping it running for liberty and for freedom. And the whole world's watching to see whether Americans can do it!

IN MUCH OF THE WORLD today, the people have resigned from running their own countries. Others have been quick to step in—first with promises of "security"—and then with whips and guns—to run things their way. The evidence is on every front page in the world, every day.

FREEDOM COMES UNDER ATTACK. The reality of war has made every American think hard about the things he's willing to work and fight for—and freedom leads the list.

But that freedom has been attacked here recently—just as it has been attacked in other parts of the world. One of the most serious threats to individual freedom has been the threat of Government-dominated Compulsory Health Insurance, falsely presented as a new guarantee of health "security" for everybody.

THE PEOPLE WEIGH THE FACTS. In the American manner, the people studied the case for Socialized Medicine—and the case against it.

They found that Government domination of the people's medical affairs under Compulsory Health Insurance means lower standards of medical care, higher payroll taxes, loss of incentive, damage to research, penalties for the provident, rewards for the improvident.

They found that no country on earth can surpass America's leadership in medical care and progress. They found that able doctors, teachers, nurses and scientists—working in laboratories where Science, not Politics, is master—are blazing dramatic new trails to health for Americans—and for the world.

THE "GRASS ROOTS" SIGNALS CONGRESS. In every community in the Nation, people stood up to be counted on this important issue. Thousands of local women's clubs, civic groups, farm, business, religious, taxpayer, medical, educational and patriotic organizations spoke out—giving the great United States Congress its unmistakable Grass Roots signal from home!

And ever watchful, ever sensitive to an alert people, The Congress saw that signal, and heard the people speak out, loud and plain. That's democracy in action. That's the American way!

Today among the 10,000 great organizations on militant public record against "Compulsory Health Insurance" are:

General Federation of Women's Clubs
American Farm Bureau Federation
National Grange
Veterans of Foreign Wars
American Protestant Hospital Association
American Legion
National Association of Small Business Men
United States Chamber of Commerce
National Association of Retail Grocers
American Bar Association

• Doctors of this Nation are grateful that the people refused to be wooed by the fantastic promises of this un-American excursion into State Socialism. • Doctors of America are dedicated to serve their fellow citizens at home and their comrades in uniform, wherever service to this Nation may take them. • And the thing they stand ready to fight for—to sacrifice for—to die for—is not the alien way of life of Socialism, but the prideful security of a free and self-reliant people!

THE VOLUNTARY WAY IS THE AMERICAN WAY!

• Throughout the Nation, free men and women, working and planning together, are finding the American answer to every question of medical service, care and cost. Hundreds of Voluntary Health Insurance Plans are in healthy competition—sponsored by doctors, insurance companies, hospitals, fraternal organizations—by industry, agriculture and labor. • Today in America—70 million people are protected by Voluntary Health Insurance! • Throughout the Nation, families are insuring themselves against the major costs of illness—at reasonable, budget-basis prices. Voluntary Health Insurance takes the economic shock out of illness. Protect your family now. • For information, ask your doctor—or your insurance man.

An American's greatest heritage is the right to learn the facts—and to speak his mind. Maintained with honor and used with sincerity—that right will guarantee forever that

Stengel Signs Two-Year Contract With Yanks

Salary Said In Excess Of $75,000 Year

Casey Happy With Pact; Plans Some Changes In Champs

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—Casey Stengel signed to manage the world champion New York Yankees for two more years today at a salary that could run as high as $75,000 to $85,000 a year.

Old Case, a fabulous success with two pennants and two series victories in two years, explained his new contract in typical Stengelese—with gestures.

"It's not $75,000," he said with a wink. "It's not $85,000, like some of you fellows been guessing. But it could be that."

What did he mean by "it could be that"?

"If I do good work," he said, "I can get it if I want it. No, we don't have to win the pennant. It's not attendance. Maybe, they've just got to like me."

If Casey does "good work" and gets $75,000 or $85,000 it will be the highest price ever paid a manager. Best guesses are that the new agreement calls for a basic $65,000 with a bonus agreement.

"One thing more," said Stengel. "If anything comes up that I desire to leave because of my health or anything else, I can do it."

Stengel, preparing to leave for his Glendale, Calif., home where he hopes to "lay dead for a month," added:

"You might say I was raised plenty. And I never had to ask for it. Mr. Topping, Mr. Webb and Mr. Weiss have been mighty fine to me."

Having cleared (?) up the salary question, Stengel went on to talk about his ball club.

"Sure I have openings on this club," he said. "We're not standing pat. I'm a man that'll take some young players if they have points. I realize we won with a hard fight.

"I'd say any young infielder—maybe first or third base—would have a good chance. Not that I'm dissatisfied with any of my men. No, sir."

PAUL RICHARDS

Richards Is New Pilot Of Chicago Club

Former AL Catcher Signs 2-Year Pact

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (AP) — The Chicago White Sox today announced signing of Paul Richards, Seattle pilot in the Pacific Coast League, to a two-year contract as manager of the Pale Hose.

Richards replaced John (Red) Corriden, who became a "fill-in" pilot last May when the White Sox fired Jack Onslow.

Richards, 41, managed three minor league clubs, but this is the first major league managerial assignment for the former catcher for the Detroit Tigers. He was a Tiger player-coach from 1943 through 1946.

His White Sox salary was not disclosed.

Richards' Seattle club finished sixth in the Pacific Coast league. He managed Atlanta of the Southern Association five years from 1938 through 1942. He won two pennants and finished second and won one postseason playoff in that span.

In 1947-48-49, Richards managed Buffalo of the International League, winning the circuit pennant in 1949.

General-Manager Frank Lane said the 1950 coaching staff will be selected entirely by Richards, but if he wanted to retain Corriden as a coach, it would be acceptable to the White Sox.

Mounties Sharpen Pass Defense Game

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 10 (AP) — Coach Art Lewis tried today to sharpen the pass defense of the West Virginia University Mountaineers for their Southern Conference football clash here Saturday with the University of Richmond.

The emphasis on pass defense was prompted by the 316 yards George Washington University gained through the air last week in beating WVU 21-14.

Four players who have been on the Mountaineers' long list of injured were back in their old positions as Lewis drilled the team on plays to be used against Richmond.

They were fullback Johnny Murphy, Halfbacks Walter Glenn and Bobby Litten, and Guard Augie Hovanski.

S.M.U. Aerialists Threaten To Set New Grid Marks

Vanderbilt, Arizona Also Offense Minded

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—If the pass-throwing Southern Methodist Mustangs continue tossing the pigskin around with the same happy abandon of their first three games, they are a virtual cinch to break every existing aerial record held by major college elevens.

In racking up wins over Georgia Tech, Ohio State and Missouri the Mustangs threw 107 passes and completed 60 for 837 yards, according to figures compiled by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

The closest rival at this stage of the season probably was the Nevada team of 1948, which threw 90 passes and completed 47 for 798 yards in its first three games.

The Arkansas Razorbacks of 1937 set the recognized mark for most passes thrown in a season—310. With seven more games to play, S.M.U. should beat that with passes to spare, providing only that Fred Benner's throwing arm holds out.

Equally endangered are Mississippi's record of 147 completions in 1947 and Tulsa's yardage peak of 2,339 set in 1942.

Vanderbilt, the nation's No. 2 passing team at the moment, also is firing at a couple of records. The Commodores, with Bill Wade pitching, have thrown only 55 aerials but they have completed 32 of them for 722 yards.

Vanderbilt's three-game average of better than 13 yards per attempt compares to the college mark of 10.4 set by Tulsa in '44. Its feat of completing 10 passes for touchdowns in three games has no modern counterpart, the N.C.A.B. says.

Southern Methodist's average of 279 yards by passing per game is followed by Vanderbilt's 240.7, Holy Cross 231, Washington 228.7, Nevada 227, George Washington 225.3, Bradley 201.3, Loyola (Calif.) 200, U.C.L.A. 190.7, and Ohio State 186.

Arizona State College at Tempe is the national leader at this stage both in rushing offense and in total offense, with Army No. 2 and Clemson No. 3 in each department.

The Sun Devils of the Border Conference have traveled farther by land in their first three games than any college team since records were kept. Their ground average of 461 yards per game compares to the record of 378.3 set by Texas Mines, now Texas Western, in 1948.

Following Arizona State in total offense average per game are Army with 499 yards, Clemson 496, Princeton 493, U.C.L.A. 445.7, Washington 444.7, Vanderbilt 444.3, Northwestern 436, Loyola (Calif.) 434.5, and S.M.U. 432.

In rushing it is Arizona State 461, Army 378.5, Clemson 357.3, Mississippi 340, Princeton 326.5, College of Pacific 317, Washington & Lee 305, California 301, Nebraska 297.5 and Texas A. & M. 289.7.

Baseball's High Command Prefers Football Instead

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (INS)—Happy Chandler confessed today that his first love was football rather than baseball.

The baseball commissioner surprised the natives by turning up for a practice session of the New York professional football Giants and told how he used to play 60 minutes of quarterback for Transylvania College.

"In those days," said Happy, "substitutes were sent in only if somebody broke a leg."

Later he coached with the late Charley Moran who sent that famous team from little Centre College to beat mighty Harvard in what was one of the most astonishing upsets ever recorded in college football.

Chandler was Moran's assistant and he scouted Harvard for that big upset. He must have done quite a job at that.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (INS) — The still young football season set a new high for so-called upsets last week and undoubtedly there will be more of them this week.

The results in some cases were truly astonishing. And if you base predictions on past performances alone you will come up with some amusing prognostications.

Comparative scores mean nothing in football. If they did mean anything, you would have to admit that Little College of the Pacific is about the strongest team in the land.

How come? Well, look at these results. C. of P. beat St. Mary's 40-0. St. Mary's tied Georgia 7-7. Georgia beat Maryland 27-7. Maryland beat Michigan State 34-7. Michigan State beat Michigan 14-7.

Thus, on the basis of comparative scores, College of the Pacific figures about 94 points better than Michigan! And Michigan should not be allowed in the same park with Army this Saturday.

But we doubt that the Army scouts and coaches will feel complacent because of those scores.

This Army-Michigan game is one of the biggest tests of the year, and Col. Red Blaik, Army coach, has just as much reason to fear Michigan as Frank Leahy of Notre Dame had to fear Purdue. And Blaik's fears could be justified.

Michigan is still burning over that defeat by Michigan State and it has been pointing for Army. And we are assured the Wolverines will have their crippled ace, Chuck Ortmann, ready for this one.

Ortmann can run and he can pass. He is the big gun in the attack. Michigan hasn't functioned too well without him but with him they will give Army a terrific battle.

On the other hand, the Army has not one, but at least four backfield men who will class with Ortmann.

Army has great power in the line to go with its blazing speed in the backfield. It also has a wealth of reserves.

There is no line in the country which hits harder or faster than Army's forward wall. These fellows are all big and rugged and they love to dish it out. They already have drawn a few penalties for unnecessary roughness and probably will draw many more. For that's the way the Army plays.

They play rough at West Point. Even a practise scrimmage is always a battle royal with them. And if they hit their own buddies that hard, you may be assured that they are not any easier against the enemy.

But if the Army can hand out punishment, it also can take it. It's a tradition in the Army to take a beating without whimpering and you may be sure there will be no squawks if Michigan is able to outrough them.

The impending battle between the two lines should be worth seeing.

Granted that the Michigan line will be just as big, fast and rugged as the Army stalwarts, we still must string along with Army because of its superior speed in the backfield.

Jim Cain, Frank Fischl, Gil Stephenson and Bob Blaik can go places in a hurry with a football and we expect to see them do so against Michigan.

Episcopal Scores Sweep In Dux Loop

Emmanuel Episcopal scored the only sweep against Centre Street Methodist in the City Church Bowling League in games rolled this week.

Trinity Methodist and Central Methodist remained tied for the lead by scoring 2-1 decisions over Grace Methodist and St. Paul's respectively.

Other matches were won by Emmanuel Methodist over St. Luke's 2-1 and St. John's Lutheran over econd Baptist 2-1.

High sets were Bailey, Emmanuel Methodist, 501; Ebbert, St. Luke's 400; McIntyre, Centre Street, 315; Sullivan, Episcopal, 391; Perkins, Trinity, 398; Hull, Grace, 540; Batdorf, Central, 476; Smith, St. Paul's, 423; Collins, St. John's, 436; and Settle, Second Baptist, 408.

Bob Anderson Named K. Of C. Player Of Week

Allegany High School's football team lost the game of Hagerstown last week but gained the fifth Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus "Player of the Week" when husky Bob Anderson, Camper fullback, received the award for his stellar play against the Washington Countains Friday night.

Anderson, who tips the scales at 167 pounds and is five feet, 11 inches tall, is the second Alco player to receive the nomination this year. Tackle Don "Elbie" Fletcher was named a week ago.

Bob gained 62 yards in 14 rushing attempts to pace the Camper offensive and scored Allegany's only touchdown in the 12-6 loss.

Center Mike Birmingham and Fletcher were also considered for the award because of their fine play.

Other winners this year have been Lynn Beightol, Fort Hill, twice, and Dick Beard, Fort Hill.

Dykes May Quit Philadelphia Club

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10 (AP) — Jimmy Dyke is ready to quit the Philadelphia Athletics but not baseball, the Philadelphita Inquirer reported tonight.

The Inquirer quoted club officials as saying they would not stand in the way of the peppery third base coach leaving Philadelphia. It did not identify the club officials and none could be reached for comment.

During and following the world series, reports were rampant that two or three American League clubs were after Dykes. One of them was said to be the Cleveland Indians,

Burda Sparks Cats Offense

KEYSER, W. Va., Oct. 10 — A well-rounded attack that came into its own against Newport News last Friday has Potomac State coach Dana "Horse" Lough beaming this week as the Catamounts prepare to meet undefeated Montgomery Junior College here Saturday.

Steve Burda

Sophomore halfback Steve Burda is the gleam in Coach Lough's eye after the Pittsburgh speedster opened up with a brilliant display of broken field running and scored twice in the Cats 44-25 victory over Newport News.

Burda twice broke loose for runs of 60 yards or better against the Newport eleven. Coach Lough remarked later that "we have known all along that Burda is very fast, but he has been satisfied to just run. Now that he is learning to use some of the tricks of a good halfback, such as reversing his field, changing pace and using his blockers he should be much more valuable to the team."

The Cats, with four straight wins under their belts, will battle Montgomery for undisputed junior college gridiron supremacy in the area composed of West Virginia, Virginia, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Resume Play Saturday

The Romney Rockets and Centerville Reds will resume their best-of-five final series for the Interstate Baseball League title Saturday at Centerville. Game time will be 2 p.m .Centerville leads in the series 2-0. Glenn Deremer of the Reds and Gardner of Romney probably will be the opposing pitchers.

Westvaco Host To Keyser Today

WESTERNPORT, Oct. 10 —Westvaco's Papermakers will be host to the Keyser Firemen in the fifth game of their best-of-seven series for the Bi-State Baseball League championship tomorrow (Wednesday) at Westernport's Memorial Park. Game time is 3:30 p. m.

The Papermakers, behind the steady hurling of Woody Woodson, finished fourth in the regular season play and eliminated Midland's Indians in the semi-finals of the Shaughnessy playoffs. Keyser copped third place and advanced to the finals over Hyndman's pennant winners.

The teams are tied at two victories apiece in the battle for the bunting, Westvaco having copped the first two games by identical 8-3 scores, while Keyser came back with triumphs in the third and fourth games by 5-2 and 2-1 scores.

The sixth contest will be played in Keyser Saturday beginning at 3 p. m. while the seventh and final tilt, if necessary, will be scheduled Sunday with the site to be determined by the flip of a coin after Saturday's battle.

Rugged NOT RAGGED

A great American statesman has defined "rugged individualism" as a "eulogy of those God-fearing men and women of honesty whose stamina and character and fearless assertion of rights led them to make their own way in life."

What better way to describe the builders of America . . . the America to which the ragged, regimented oppressed peoples of the world look for release, for inspiration. ★ ★ ★

As businessmen, we know the value and the blessings of freedom. We know how the exercise of freedom has made America great. We want to keep our right to voluntary action.

Suffocating Socialism at home, like communism overseas, threatens the America we cherish.

There is no line in the country which hits harder or faster than Army's forward wall. These fellows are all big and rugged and they love to dish it out. They already have drawn a few penalties for unnecessary roughness and probably will draw many more. For that's the way the Army plays.

They play rough at West Point. Even a practise scrimmage is always a battle royal with them. And if they hit their own buddies that hard, you may be assured that they are not any easier against the enemy.

But if the Army can hand out punishment, it also can take it. It's a tradition in the Army to take a beating without whimpering and you may be sure there will be no squawks if Michigan is able to outrough them.

The impending battle between the two lines should be worth seeing.

Granted that the Michigan line will be just as big, fast and rugged as the Army stalwarts, we still must string along with Army because of its superior speed in the backfield.

Jim Cain, Frank Fischl, Gil Stephenson and Bob Blaik can go places in a hurry with a football and we expect to see them do so against Michigan.

Bob Anderson Named K. Of C. Player Of Week

Allegany High School's football team lost the game of Hagerstown last week but gained the fifth Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus "Player of the Week" when husky Bob Anderson, Camper fullback, received the award for his stellar play against the Washington Countains Friday night.

Anderson, who tips the scales at 167 pounds and is five feet, 11 inches tall, is the second Alco player to receive the nomination this year. Tackle Don "Elbie" Fletcher was named a week ago.

Bob gained 62 yards in 14 rushing attempts to pace the Camper offensive and scored Allegany's only touchdown in the 12-6 loss.

Center Mike Birmingham and Fletcher were also considered for the award because of their fine play.

Other winners this year have been Lynn Beightol, Fort Hill, twice, and Dick Beard, Fort Hill.

Dykes May Quit Philadelphia Club

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10 (AP) — Jimmy Dyke is ready to quit the Philadelphia Athletics but not baseball, the Philadelphita Inquirer reported tonight.

The Inquirer quoted club officials as saying they would not stand in the way of the peppery third base coach leaving Philadelphia. It did not identify the club officials and none could be reached for comment.

During and following the world series, reports were rampant that two or three American League clubs were after Dykes. One of them was said to be the Cleveland Indians,

Burda Sparks Cats Offense

KEYSER, W. Va., Oct. 10 — A well-rounded attack that came into its own against Newport News last Friday has Potomac State coach Dana "Horse" Lough beaming this week as the Catamounts prepare to meet undefeated Montgomery Junior College here Saturday.

Steve Burda

Sophomore halfback Steve Burda is the gleam in Coach Lough's eye after the Pittsburgh speedster opened up with a brilliant display of broken field running and scored twice in the Cats 44-25 victory over Newport News.

Burda twice broke loose for runs of 60 yards or better against the Newport eleven. Coach Lough remarked later that "we have known all along that Burda is very fast, but he has been satisfied to just run. Now that he is learning to use some of the tricks of a good halfback, such as reversing his field, changing pace and using his blockers he should be much more valuable to the team."

The Cats, with four straight wins under their belts, will battle Montgomery for undisputed junior college gridiron supremacy in the area composed of West Virginia, Virginia, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Resume Play Saturday

The Romney Rockets and Centerville Reds will resume their best-of-five final series for the Interstate Baseball League title Saturday at Centerville. Game time will be 2 p.m .Centerville leads in the series 2-0. Glenn Deremer of the Reds and Gardner of Romney probably will be the opposing pitchers.

Westvaco Host To Keyser Today

WESTERNPORT, Oct. 10 —Westvaco's Papermakers will be host to the Keyser Firemen in the fifth game of their best-of-seven series for the Bi-State Baseball League championship tomorrow (Wednesday) at Westernport's Memorial Park. Game time is 3:30 p. m.

The Papermakers, behind the steady hurling of Woody Woodson, finished fourth in the regular season play and eliminated Midland's Indians in the semi-finals of the Shaughnessy playoffs. Keyser copped third place and advanced to the finals over Hyndman's pennant winners.

The teams are tied at two victories apiece in the battle for the bunting, Westvaco having copped the first two games by identical 8-3 scores, while Keyser came back with triumphs in the third and fourth games by 5-2 and 2-1 scores.

The sixth contest will be played in Keyser Saturday beginning at 3 p. m. while the seventh and final tilt, if necessary, will be scheduled Sunday with the site to be determined by the flip of a coin after Saturday's battle.

Rugged NOT RAGGED

A great American statesman has defined "rugged individualism" as a "eulogy of those God-fearing men and women of honesty whose stamina and character and fearless assertion of rights led them to make their own way in life."

What better way to describe the builders of America . . . the America to which the ragged, regimented oppressed peoples of the world look for release, for inspiration. ★ ★ ★

As businessmen, we know the value and the blessings of freedom. We know how the exercise of freedom has made America great. We want to keep our right to voluntary action.

To the doctors who are fighting for freedom, our salute. Their crusade for liberty is all America's crusade.

Street Paving Problem Cited

Waverly Terrace will be maintained so that it is passable for traffic this winter, and the Street Department will try to arrange for permanent paving and curb and gutter work next spring.

This was reported Monday night by Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder at a conference with about 15 residents of the area following the council session at City Hall.

Temporary surfacing with stone chips and oil would only mean wasting money since it would not provide a permanent base for paving, Mrs. Roeder explained.

She said the season is too far advanced to start a "first class" paving job now. Problems of grading and drainage were outlined by Street Superintendent Martin Corrigan and William H. Marean of the City Engineering Department.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Roeder commented at the council session that complaints regarding streets torn up for the flood control project should go to either the Army Engineer office here or to Albert S. Paye, liaison engineer.

The Street Department can only maintain affected streets after temporary paving is installed, she said.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said the city is doing everything it can to urge acceleration of the work but that it has no direct jurisdiction over the federal project.

Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long commented that Williams Street is open to traffic but that there are a number of "dips and drops." The mayor said the street is passable if caution is used.

Sgt. And Mrs. H. R. Rice Here On 15-Day Leave

Sgt. First Class and Mrs. Harold R. Rice arrived in Cumberland Saturday for a 15-day furlough to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Waverly R. Rice, 632 Yale Street.

Sgt. Rice has been in Linz, Austria, for the past 44 months where he has been operating a mailing distribution center. He enlisted in the Army in 1946 after having spent 12 years as a stereotyper and pressman for the Times-News.

Mrs. Rice is a native of Linz, and when asked how she liked the United States, said, " I am at home in Cumberland because it is so similar to Linz."

Washington Whirl

By AUSTINE

WASHINGTON

CAPITAL-EYES ON: Senator Benton's spectacular floperoo . . . The advertising geninus-turned Senator decided to helicopter to a Connecticut political meeting. . .He probably expected to step out into the amazed crowd admid cheering and clapping. T'was a slapstick comedy touch, however, when the helicopter glided down into the middle of the wrong meeting.

AUSTINE

Most unfortunately, it happed to be a Knights of Columbus gathering. They almost booed the pants off Benton; for one thing he had voted against the loan to Spain.

Hurriedly hopping into his helicopter, Benton took off, again searched the landscape for the right town and the right meeting . . . After landing at another spot, "Wrong Way" Benton never did find his own group . . . Finally, somewhat bewildered, bewitched and bothered, he headed back for home-base at Fairfield.

Even if it had been successful, the idea of politicking by helicopter wasn't original . . . Helen Gahagan Douglas tried it in her California primaries.

CAPITAL-EYES ON: Averell Harriman. His Excellency, Ambassador to Everywhere for President Truman, who returned the other day after gadding the globe . . . He went out for a Long Island weekend with Mr. and Mrs. William Paley, head of CBS . . . Not till Sunday afternoon did Mr. Harriman get time to pay a visit to his daughter, Kathleen, now Mrs. Stanley Mortimer . . . Though she lives nearby, and though he hadn't seen her for sometime, and though she's been quite ill.

If you get as busy as Mr. Harriman, I guess your family just has to try and understand.

• — • — •

CAPITAL-EYES ON: Vice President Barkley during the Senate's closing hours . . . The Veep gravely handed a quarter to Senators Morse of Oregon and Schoeppel of Kansas who have seats next to Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine . . . The Veep paid the senators so he could sit down next to Margaret and hold her hand.

All in fun, of course, Mrs. Barkley.

The demand for tickets to attend meetings where Veep will plug for Democratic November election candidates falling off sharply . . . The reason: Vivacious Mrs. Veep ain't with him . . . One local party leader said, "We sell a thousand tickets—but if she comes we sell two thousand."

• — • — •

CAPITAL-EYES ON: French Foreign Minister Schumann walking along Broadway goggle-eyed when he saw a man selling toy bears the windup kind: He invested in one ta take back to France . . . Seems he likes to wind it up and then let it run down and stop . . . Guess he wishes the Russian Bear was that easy to manage.

• — • — •

CAPITAL-EYES ON: A new military school, for the girls, mind you! Oveta Culp Hobby, once highest-ranking Army Lady, and Mildred H. McAfee, highest-ranking Navy Lady, both will be invited to head the faculty in honorary capacities . . . The proposed school plans so far only in early stages.

• — • — •

CAPITAL-EYES ON: A bag of high-brassy Russian officers . . . The information they gave U. S. intelligence after they were captured considerably helped to bring about our present success in the Korean campaign.

CAPITAL-EYES ON: Burke Wilkinson, Washington novelist whose new book, "Run, Mongoose" (first line of a Jamaican folk song) came out last week. . . . Mr. Wilkinson, a good six feet of blonde strapping male beauty, suffers this week from an overdose of adulation . . . Ladies cluck over him at cocktail parties. . . . He lives on creamed chicken and peas at "literarary luncheons," appears on radio programs, and gets interviewed by the press . . . Friends hound him for autographed copies and young matrons sidle up at dinners acting like "interesting characters" so they'll be written into his next book.

His wife weathers it all wonderfully . . . Doesn't turn green when other women flutter around ohing and ahing . . . "I imagine," she says, resignedly, it's like being married to a doctor."

• — • — •

CAPITAL-EYES ON: Christopher Columbus and General Eisenhower, both celebrating anniversaries next week . . . Ike will be 60 years old on Saturday, October 14th . . . Friends urged him to accept no posts from the President . . . They say, that like Roosevelt, Truman knows how to "kill an opponent with kindness."

And about that guy Columbus—has Pravda claimed he was a Russian yet?

Still on October anniversaries, 33 years ago on October 15th, a young lady faced a firing squad in France wearing nothing but a mink coat and her birthday suit, so they say—Mata Hari.

Seventy years ago on October 21st, Thomas Edison lighted his first practical incandescent lamp . . . Its concept sprang from the philosophy which guided his life:

"Making things which kill men is against my fiber. I would rather make people laugh. The world has been steeped in darkness long enough."

The Hawaiian word "a" means: when, then, there, until, of, to, lo, burn and jawbone.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Notice where a citizen of the world wants his American papers back. Well, what can you do with a guy who runs upstairs and robs his own trunk?

The self-made expatriate tried two years of solitary freedom. And didn't like it any more than the same kind of confinement.

Liberty is a very strange ingredient in the scheme of things. It runs on tracks like most improvements.

If the man says he's sorry he carried the bundle by the string then it's up to Attorney General McGrath to figure out the answer.

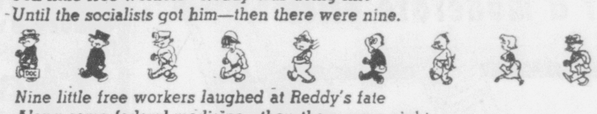
THE STORY OF TEN LITTLE FREE WORKERS

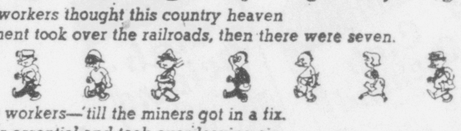
THESE ARE THE WORKERS

Ten little free workers in this country fine and fair.
But if you cherish your freedom—worker have a care!
Ten little free workers—Reddy was doing fine
Until the socialists got him—then there were nine.



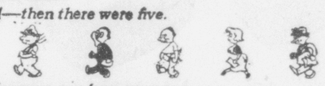
Nine little free workers laughed at Reddy's fate
Along came federal medicine—then there were eight.

Eight little free workers thought this country heaven
But the government took over the railroads, then there were seven.

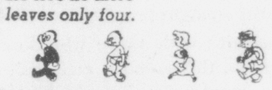


Seven little free workers—'till the miners got in a fix.
Uncle said coal's essential and took over leaving six.

Six little free workers till the day did arrive
The steel mills, too, were federalized—then there were five.



Five little free workers—but the farmers are free no more
The farms have been collectivized—that leaves only four.



Four little free workers till the government did decree
All must have free legal advice—then there were three.

Three little free workers—the number is getting few,
But with government groceries selling food—then there were two.

Two little free workers—our story's almost done,
With clerks at work in federal stores—that leaves only one.

One little free worker—the reporter son-of-a-gun
Mustn't criticize government—so now there are none.

Ten little workers—but they are no longer free
They work when and where ordered, and at a fixed rate you see,
And it all could have been prevented if they'd only seen fit to agree
And work together instead of saying "it never can happen to me!"

WASHINGTON

CAPITAL-EYES ON: Senator Benton's spectacular floperoo . . . The advertising geninus-turned Senator decided to helicopter to a Connecticut political meeting . . He probably expected to step out into the amazed crowd admid cheering and clapping. T'was a slapstick comedy touch, however, when the helicopter glided down into the middle of the wrong meeting.

AUSTINE

Most unfortunately, it happed to be a Knights of Columbus gathering. They almost booed the pants off Benton; for one thing he had voted against the loan to Spain.

Hurriedly hopping into his helicopter, Benton took off, again searched the landscape for the right town and the right meeting . . . After landing at another spot, "Wrong Way" Benton never did find his own group . . . Finally, somewhat bewildered, bewitched and bothered, he headed back for home-base at Fairfield.

Even if it had been successful, the idea of politicking by helicopter wasn't original . . . Helen Gahagan Douglas tried it in her California primaries.

CAPITAL-EYES ON: Averell Harriman. His Excellency, Ambassador to Everywhere for President Truman, who returned the other day after gadding the globe . . . He went out for a Long Island weekend with Mr. and Mrs. William Paley, head of CBS . . . Not till Sunday afternoon did Mr. Harriman get time to pay a visit to his daughter, Kathleen, now Mrs. Stanley Mortimer . . . Though she lives nearby, and though he hadn't seen her for sometime, and though she's been quite ill.

If you get as busy as Mr. Harriman, I guess your family just has to try and understand.

• — • — •

CAPITAL-EYES ON: Vice President Barkley during the Senate's closing hours . . . The Veep gravely handed a quarter to Senators Morse of Oregon and Schoeppel of Kansas who have seats next to Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine . . . The Veep paid the senators so he could sit down next to Margaret and hold her hand.

All in fun, of course, Mrs. Barkley.

The demand for tickets to attend meetings where Veep will plug for Democratic November election candidates falling off sharply . . . The reason: Vivacious Mrs. Veep ain't with him . . . One local party leader said, "We sell a thousand tickets—but if she comes we sell two thousand."

• — • — •

CAPITAL-EYES ON: French Foreign Minister Schumann walking along Broadway goggle-eyed when he saw a man selling toy bears the windup kind: He invested in one ta take back to France . . . Seems he likes to wind it up and then let it run down and stop . . . Guess he wishes the Russian Bear was that easy to manage.

• — • — •

CAPITAL-EYES ON: A new military school, for the girls, mind you! Oveta Culp Hobby, once highest-ranking Army Lady, and Mildred H. McAfee, highest-ranking Navy Lady, both will be invited to head the faculty in honorary capacities . . . The proposed school plans so far only in early stages.

• — • — •

CAPITAL-EYES ON: A bag of high-brassy Russian officers . . . The information they gave U. S. intelligence after they were captured considerably helped to bring about our present success in the Korean campaign.

CAPITAL-EYES ON: Burke Wilkinson, Washington novelist whose new book, "Run, Mongoose" (first line of a Jamaican folk song) came out last week . . . Mr. Wilkinson, a good six feet of blonde strapping male beauty, suffers this week from an overdose of adulation . . . Ladies cluck over him at cocktail parties. . . . He lives on creamed chicken and peas at "literarary luncheons," appears on radio programs, and gets interviewed by the press . . . Friends hound him for autographed copies and young matrons sidle up at dinners acting like "interesting characters" so they'll be written into his next book.

His wife weathers it all wonderfully . . . Doesn't turn green when other women flutter around ohing and ahing . . . "I imagine," she says, resignedly, it's like being married to a doctor."

• — • — •

CAPITAL-EYES ON: Christopher Columbus and General Eisenhower, both celebrating anniversaries next week . . . Ike will be 60 years old on Saturday, October 14th . . . Friends urged him to accept no posts from the President . . . They say, that like Roosevelt, Truman knows how to "kill an opponent with kindness."

And about that guy Columbus—has Pravda claimed he was a Russian yet?

Still on October anniversaries, 33 years ago on October 15th, a young lady faced a firing squad in France wearing nothing but a mink coat and her birthday suit, so they say—Mata Hari.

Seventy years ago on October 21st, Thomas Edison lighted his first practical incandescent lamp . . . Its concept sprang from the philosophy which guided his life:

"Making things which kill men is against my fiber. I would rather make people laugh. The world has been steeped in darkness long enough."

(Copyright, 1950, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The Hawaiian word "a" means: when, then, there, until, of, to, lo, burn and jawbone.

Painting containers of poisonous items red makes them easily distinguished.

The self-made expatriate tried two years of solitary freedom. And didn't like it any more than the same kind of confinement.

Liberty is a very strange ingredient in the scheme of things. It runs on tracks like most improvements.

If the man says he's sorry he carried the bundle by the string then it's up to Attorney General McGrath to figure out the answer.

THE STORY OF TEN LITTLE FREE WORKERS

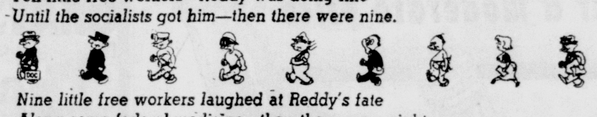
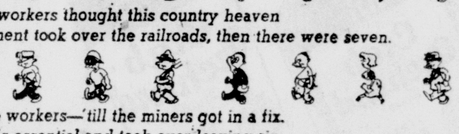
REDDY DOCTOR RAILROADER MINER STEELWORKER FARMER LAWYER GROCER SALESCLERK REPORTER

Ten little free workers in this country fine and fair.
But if you cherish your freedom—worker have a care!
Ten little free workers—Reddy was doing fine
Until the socialists got him—then there were nine.

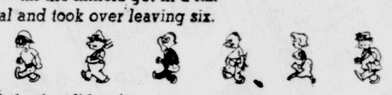


Nine little free workers laughed at Reddy's fate
Along came federal medicine—then there were eight.

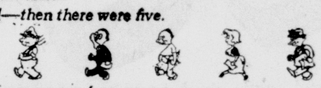
Eight little free workers thought this country heaven
But the government took over the railroads, then there were seven.



Seven little free workers—'till the miners got in a fix.
Uncle said coal's essential and took over leaving six.



Six little free workers till the day did arrive
The steel mills, too, were federalized—then there were five.



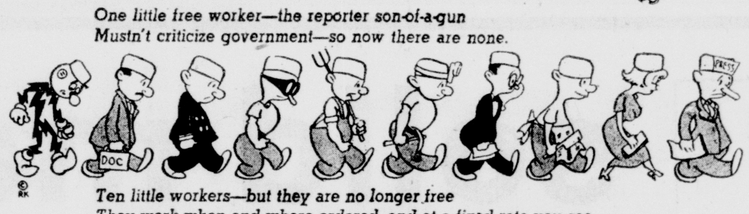
Five little free workers—but the farmers are free no more
The farms have been collectivized—that leaves only four.

Four little free workers till the government did decree
All must have free legal advice—then there were three.

Three little free workers—the number is getting few,
But with government groceries selling food—then there were two.

Two little free workers—our story's almost done,
With clerks at work in federal stores—that leaves only one.

One little free worker—the reporter son-of-a-gun
Mustn't criticize government—so now there are none.



Ten little workers—but they are no longer free
They work when and where ordered, and at a fixed rate you see,
And it all could have been prevented if they'd only seen fit to agree

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 10 (INS)—The "Mary Poppins" books, which have delighted all children and many adults for the past 20 years, have been purchased by Samuel Goldwyn for Gigi Perreau. Sam started negotiations with P. L. Travers, the author, when he was in England, and completed them a few days ago.

Miss Travers—yes, she's a woman—will come to Hollywood to adapt her fantasies. She wrote three books about a governess who blows into a house with a wind and has all sorts of strange powers, such as the ability to know what animals say, and to stand on the lower floor and be swept up the bannister.

The children are going to love these films, and goodness knows they have too few films to entertain them.

Dined with Rosalind Russell and Freddie Brisson a few nights ago, and Roz was considering an offer to do a musical based on "My Sister Eileen." Leland Hayward plans to produce the popular Broadway play and movie, as a musical, and he wants Roz to play the same role she did in the movie. Irving Berlin has been contacted to write the music.

Rosalind Russell

"But Roz, what about singing?" I asked her.

"Don't you remember, I was in a musical comedy before I ever came into movies," she said.

If Roz accepts it means she will be in New York for 18 months at least. She has many movie irons in the fire, one of which is "You Can't Judge a Lady," an hilariously funny story and something very different, and she'll do another picture, as yet untitled, before her comedy.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

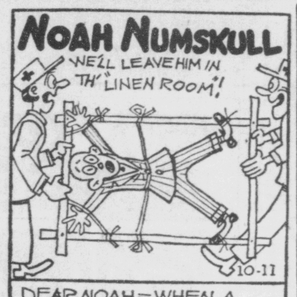
Cubby Brocolli flew to New York today to see Nedra Clark, who has been quite sick. Poor Nedra held up so bravely, but all the trouble she has had was just too much for her.

Joan Fontaine and Collier Young were in a party with me at Larue Sunday night. In the next room Ann Rutherford sat with Bill Dozier. As we walked out Joan sat with Bill and Ann for a few minutes and they all laughed gayly.

Joan was leaving the next morning for Honolulu and we stopped to talk to Gov. Warren's wife and daughter, Virginia. She was going on the Honolulu trip too.

Kitty Leroy, much thinner, was in a party with Anita Louise and Buddy Adler. She said she had talked with Mervyn over the telephone in Rome. She says she has recovered from her serious operation but has to take it slowly.

Dan Dailey was at the Saddle and Sirloin with TV Actress Neva Gilbert. He hasnt been out much since he and Liz separated but I think this time the reconciliation overtures will have to come from her—although he admits he feels that because of the little boy maybe something should be done about it.



That banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York on November 16 honoring Spyros Skouras, has a very distinguished guest list, including Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, Bernard Baruch and Archbishop Michaels of the Greek Orthodox Church. Spyros was chosen "the Pioneer of the Year" by the Motion Picture Pioneers of New York, and that's the reason for the big occasion.

Ida Lupino and Howard Duff have said au revoir to their romance. He took Marta Toren to hear Mitzi Green at Ciro's.

Bob Walker's house guests over the weekend were his aunt, Mrs. Floyd Odlum and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Odlum. He gave a small dinner at which Nancy Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Cooper were his guests.

Nicky Hilton, who has been a model of devotion these past few weeks, lunched with his bride, Elizabeth Taylor, at the MGM commissary. Liz said it was their anniversary of five months of marriage, so the studio chef baked two small cupcakes with a candle on each.

Audrey Totter went north for the fifth time to entertain the wounded who are back from Korea. That's what I call doing a worthwhile thing.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

York for weeks, and he has in his files the testimony he wrung from big and little fry at such nerve centers of the hoodlum empire as Miami, Chicago, Kansas City and Los Angeles. Kefauver's campaign is nearing its climax. His eventual recommendation should make American history.

His report will show that the bedrock of organized crime in the U. S. today is off-course betting on horses. New Yorkers who have followed the Gross case can begin to appreciate the fantastic scope of the nationwide picture, if only a little part of it, Brooklyn, and just one bum, Gross, alone can spread one million dollars worth of shocking rot each year.

Riding The Ghost

THE other midnight, after 15 hours of making like Joe Executive, I felt I could use a little fresh air, and so I stepped into a cab and asked the hackie to drive me around Central Park.

"How's business?" I small-talked.

Billy Rose

"Pretty fair," said the cabbie, "but people are funny — soon as us hackies start making an extra buck they act like we was profiteering or something. They forget all those years when we had to ride the ghost in order to keep our jobs."

Ride the what?"

"The ghost," said the hackie. "That's what we used to call it when we threw the flag down and let the clock run without a customer inside. During the tough times there were fleet owners who would fire a guy if he didn't bring in a certain amount of business, so we used to run it up on the meter and pay it out of our own pockets. And we had to watch ourselves when riding the ghost or an inspector might nab us. The way I used to do it was to cruise around Central Park until I clocked enough to satisfy the boss—and do you know something? The biggest tip I ever got was on one of those nights when the ride was on me."

"Unconfuse me," I said.

"Well, it was like this," said the hackie. "About a month after the stock market crash in '29, I'm cruising around Wall Street one afternoon, figuring that if a broker threw himself out the window I might get a chance to rush him to the hospital. But Wall Street's like a graveyard that day, and finally I get disgusted and go into a speakeasy for a couple of shots.

'When I climb back into my cab a few hours later, I'm feeling no pain, and so I decide I might as well take the ghost for his usual joyride. And that night, Central Park is really something to see — you know, full of snow and icicles like a picture in a kid's fairy book.

"After making the circuit a couple of times, I'm about ready to call it a night when suddenly I get a feeling I'm being watched. And so I turn around, and sitting in the back is a little old geezer wearing one of those high collars and what they call a homberger hat. Naturally, this gives me quite a jolt, but when a guy is potted he's liable to get some pretty funny ideas, and so I figure out that this is the ghost I been riding around night after night. Brave-like, I crank open the window between us and start to talk to him.

" 'How you enjoying the ride?' I says.

" 'I'm enjoying it fine," says the ghost.

" 'Where can I take you?' I ask him next.

" 'To St. Patrick's Cathedral. And close the window—it's getting cold.'

"This strikes me as kind of a peculiar remark for a ghost, but I do like I'm told, and when we get to St. Patrick's the ghost gets out and I'm surprised I can't see through him like you're supposed to with ghosts.

" 'I'll never forget you for what you did,' he says, 'and especially the way you did it—pretending not to hear what I told you and driving me through the park on this beautiful night so I could see there was something in the world besides my own miserable problems.'

"For the first time I begin to suspicion that maybe this ghost ain't no ghost after all, so I says to him, 'When'd you get in my cab?'

" 'You know darned well I was waiting in the back when you came out of the bar," he says.

" 'That explains it,' I says. 'I didn't see you because it was dark and I was kind of loaded, and I didn't hear you because the window between us was closed.'

" 'You're a gentleman and a scholar," says the little old geezer.

Saying which he fishes out a hundred-dollar bill and hands it to me.

"He starts to go away but I stop him. 'Just for the record,' I says, 'where'd you ask me to take you first?'

" 'As if you didn't know,' he says. 'The middle of the Brooklyn Bridge.' "

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

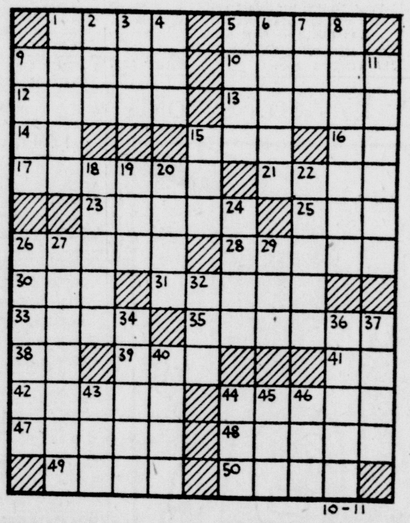
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

U O D W L I F T I T E E L Y N L E S V H T L S-U V H Y M F Y Y K M F U H L J M Y T — W M B.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote — NO MAN SHOULD SO ACT AS TO MAKE A GAIN OUT OF THE IGNORANCE OF ANOTHER. —CICERO.

Selling Pressure On Motors Brings Declines In Market

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP) — Selling pressure on motors today weakened the rest of the stock market and brought declines running to $1 and $2 a share.

The pattern of the market was apparent shortly after the start when Chrysler suddenly gave way and ran losses of more than $2.

The remainder of the motor division turned downward followed by practically every other section of the market.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 50 cents to $83.50, a total of $1.20 in two days.

The most active issue was Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad which gained 1⅝ at 16½. The preferred was eighth most active up 1⅜ at 46.

Chrysler, which touched off so much selling, was the fifth most active and lost 1⅝ at 80⅝. General Motors, third most active, was down 1⅛ at 52¾.

Safety Week Planned Here

Safety Week will be observed in Allegany County November 8-11 under auspices of the Western Maryland Safety Council, according to Lynn Walker, president and general chairman of the program.

Walker pointed out yesterday morning that the observance is being planned as a means of providing information and education to prevent casualties and fatalities from all types of accidents. Last year the county was the first to adopt the safety program.

As a "teaser" theme to arouse interest and curiosity, the numbers "68" will be painted at intersections and placards bearing the figures will be displayed in trucks, buses, taxicabs and show windows about a week before the program gets underway. At the end of the week, an explanation of the numbers will be given.

A window display at the C. and A. Gas Company office on Baltimore Street will include slogans, news pictures and reports of mishaps, charts and other pertinent data.

Safety, as being taught by newspapers, radios, motion pictures and other means of publicity, features six important phases, Walker said. These are:

(1) Safety in the Home; (2) Industrial Safety; (3) Safety In City Traffic; (4) Safety in the School; (5) Fire Prevention, and (6) Safety on the Highways.

Plans for the observance calls for a dinner-meeting November 10 at 6:45 p.m. in Ali Ghan Shrine County Club. Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long will be toastmaster.

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHO GETS THE JUMP?

SUCCESS or failure of a large percentage of No Trump game contracts depends on which side gets the jump in starting work on its long suit. The initial advantage belongs to the defense, which has a chance to knock at one of declarer's stoppers while also perhaps helping establish a long suit of its own. If, however, it selects a lead which is right up declarer's alley, it transfers the edge to him. That is why usually the worst possible lead is the suit which had been bid by the hand that eventually becomes the dummy.

	♠ 7 5 ♥ 9 5 ♦ A 10 8 5 3 ♣ J 9 8 3
♠ J 4 3 ♥ J 10 7 4 ♦ J 9 ♣ 10 6 4 2	N W E S	♠ A 10 6 2 ♥ A Q 6 2 ♦ Q 6 ♣ K Q 5
	♠ K Q 9 8 ♥ K 8 3 ♦ K 7 4 2 ♣ A 7

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable).

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
3 NT

West, with his weak hand, did not stop to think that his partner must have pretty good stuff generally, almost surely having the unbid major, which therefore would have been the sounder lead as between hearts and clubs; the opponents, with biddable hearts, would almost surely have bid them, but with clubs, they might have kept the suit hidden. It appeared to West that he might as well take a chance of finding the missing diamond honors in the East, so he led the J of that suit—right up declarer's alley.

South won that with the K, led to the A, offered the spade 7, which East unwisely covered with the 10, the K winning, and returned to dummy with the diamond 4 to the 5. Now the spade A was used on the 5, and East switched to the heart 2, South playing low and the 10 winning. The heart J was allowed to run to the K. The spade Q felled the J, making the 9 good for the next trick. Now the diamond 7 to the 10 was followed by the 8, which squeezed East. Dummy also held the club J-9 and South the heart 8 and club A-7. East, with the heart A and club K-Q, held on to the heart to prevent the 8 from setting up, so threw his club Q. The club 9 to the A killed the K then, and the 7 to the J scored the final trick to give South his second extra trick.

Tomorrow's Problem

If West had made a heart overcall, what danger threatens South's 6-Spades contract after the heart K lead?

Selling Pressure On Motors Brings Declines In Market

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP) — Selling pressure on motors today weakened the rest of the stock market and brought declines running to $1 and $2 a share.

The pattern of the market was apparent shortly after the start when Chrysler suddenly gave way and ran losses of more than $2.

The remainder of the motor division turned downward followed by practically every other section of the market.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 50 cents to $83.50, a total of $1.20 in two days.

The industrial component of the average lost 90 cents, rails 20 cents and utilities 30 cents.

The most active issue was Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad which gained 1⅜ at 16½. The preferred was eighth most active up 1⅜ at 46.

Chrysler, which touched off so much selling, was the fifth most active and lost 1⅝ at 80⅝. General Motors, third most active, was down 1⅛ at 52¾.

Safety Week Planned Here

Safety Week will be observed in Allegany County November 8-11 under auspices of the Western Maryland Safety Council, according to Lynn Walker, president and general chairman of the program.

Walker pointed out yesterday morning that the observance is being planned as a means of providing information and education to prevent casualties and fatalities from all types of accidents. Last year the county was the first to adopt the safety program.

As a "teaser" theme to arouse interest and curiosity, the numbers "68" will be painted at intersections and placards bearing the figures will be displayed in trucks, buses, taxicabs and show windows about a week before the program gets underway. At the end of the week, an explanation of the numbers will be given.

A window display at the C. and A. Gas Company office on Baltimore Street will include slogans, news pictures and reports of mishaps, charts and other pertinent data.

Safety, as being taught by newspapers, radios, motion pictures and other means of publicity, features six important phases, Walker said. These are:

(1) Safety in the Home; (2) Industrial Safety; (3) Safety In City Traffic; (4) Safety in the School; (5) Fire Prevention, and (6) Safety on the Highways.

Plans for the observance calls for a dinner-meeting November 10 at 6:45 p.m. in Ali Ghan Shrine County Club. Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long will be toastmaster.

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHO GETS THE JUMP?

SUCCESS or failure of a large percentage of No Trump game contracts depends on which side gets the jump in starting work on its long suit. The initial advantage belongs to the defense, which has a chance to knock at one of declarer's stoppers while also perhaps helping establish a long suit of its own. If, however, it selects a lead which is right up declarer's alley, it transfers the edge to him. That is why usually the worst possible lead is the suit which had been bid by the hand that eventually becomes the dummy.

West, with his weak hand, did not stop to think that his partner must have pretty good stuff generally, almost surely having the unbid major, which therefore would have been the sounder lead as between hearts and clubs; the opponents, with biddable hearts, would almost surely have bid them, but with clubs, they might have kept the suit hidden. It appeared to West that he might as well take a chance of finding the missing diamond honors in the East, so he led the J of that suit —right up declarer's alley.

South won that with the K, led to the A, offered the spade 7, which East unwisely covered with the 10, the K winning, and returned to dummy with the diamond 4 to the 5. Now the spade A was used on the 5, and East switched to the heart 2, South playing low and the 10 winning. The heart J was allowed to run to the K. The spade Q felled the J, making the 9 good for the next trick. Now the diamond 7 to the 10 was followed by the 8, which squeezed East. Dummy also held the club J-9 and South the heart 8 and club A-7. East, with the heart A and club K-Q, held on to the heart to prevent the 8 from setting up, so threw his club Q. The club 9 to the A killed the K then, and the 7 to the J scored the final trick to give South his second extra trick.

Funds Assured For Flood Control, Savage Dam Work

Tydings Reports Money Allocated

Funds to continue the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Control project and to complete the Savage River Dam have been assured in the amount of $1,750,000, U. S. Senator Millard E. Tydings said last night.

In telegrams to David Kauffman, chairman of the Steering Committee for Economic Development, and to the Cumberland News, Senator Tydings said he had just been advised by the Corps of Engineers, Department of Army, that $1,100,000 has been provided for continued work on flood control, and $650,000 is provided for completing the Savage River Dam project.

The funds assure work this winter on both jobs, and will provide employment for a number of workers, officials noted.

Albert S. Paye, liaison engineer on the flood work, said this money allocation means that the remainder of the pressure conduits can be completed, water and sewer lines relocated, and other work undertaken.

Starting On West Side

Presently work is being started on the West Side in Riverside Park and along the river, on the relocation of a 24-inch city water line and large sanitary and storm sewers.

Paye explained that it is necessary to move a long section of the 24-inch belt or loop water line adjacent to the river, to make way for flood walls and levees, a part of the final phase of the project.

In addition a 60-inch storm sewer is to be built on the West Side and a 27-inch sanitary sewer is to be relocated and reconstructed.

The funds will also make work on the huge West Side pressure conduit possible, Paye indicated.

This conduit, one of the largest in the series, extends from Greene Street near Paw Paw Alley, just west of the subway, runs under the subway past West Side Fire Hall, along Walnut Place to the river. Another branch of this same pressure conduit starts on Washington Street near Millman Place and joins on to the Greene Street line.

The other pressure conduit which remains in the project series, will start at Wills Creek near Frederick Street, extend along Frederick Street across City Hall Plaza, across North Centre Street to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, Paye said.

Phase III Next

This calls for the removal of the dam at Riverside Park, and rebuilding it farther up the river, dredging of channels and widening of the streams in several places, of both the Potomac River and Wills Creek, and the construction of walls or levees along the banks of both streams through the city.

Three pumping stations are called for, one near the old Footer property on Howard Street, another opposite this site in Ridgeley, W. Va., and a third a long Wills Creek near the viaduct.

Paye said much of the work this winter will be off the streets, thus preventing any more hazards or inconvenience to motorists and pedestrians than necessary during the bad weather period.

United Jewish Appeal Drive Is Discussed

Kickoff Dinner Is Set November 5

The Board of Governors of the Jewish Welfare Fund of Western Maryland has completed plans for the annual United Jewish Appeal fund raising campaign for Cumberland and vicinity.

For several years the Jewish Welfare Fund has participated in the national program of raising funds to meet the budget needs of the United Jewish Appeal.

The local campaign will start with a "kick off" dinner to be held in the B'er Chayim Temple on Sunday evening, November 5. Dinner will be served by the Hadassah organization, Mrs. Harry Kauffman, chairman, and Mrs. Max Spear, co-chairman.

The national goal of the United Jewish Appeal last year was 250 million dollars. The budget for this year is for the greatest reconstruction program in Jewish history.

The United Palestine Appeal, the Joint Distribution Committee, and the United Service for New Americans, the three constituent agencies of the United Jewish Appeal, require $272,450,000 to carry out adequately the basic programs. The major portion of this amount, 209 million dollars, is needed for immigration, settlement and economic development programs in the new land of Israel.

It is estimated that 150,000 immigrants will be brought to the Holy Land this year. The population of the State of Israel as of July 1 was around 1,200,000. At the time of the establishment of the New State, in May, 1948, there were approximately 660,000 people of the Jewish faith within the borders of what now constitutes the State of Israel.

Most of the funds raised throughout the United States will be used for a vast housing program in Israel, for relief as well as for rehabilitation assistance to persons in Eastern Europe and in the Moslem-Arab lands of North Africa and the near East, and assistance to emigrants to the United States. Since the establishment of Israel, about 18,000 new housing units were constructed by the United Palestine Appeal agencies. This is still inadequate as many of the new arrivals in Palestine are quartered in tents or in abandoned Arab villages which were renovated and made habitable temporarily.

In France, Belgium, Switzerland, and other lands, the Agency provides cash relief for thousands, operates health centers, vocational facilities and makes possible the rehabilitation of thousands of families.

The Jewish Welfare Fund of Western Maryland has accepted as its share in the national drive for funds for the United Jewish Appeal a large quota to be raised by donations and subscriptions as in previous years, campaign leaders said.

Friendsville Vets Stage Big Rally

Edward J. Murray, Mt. Savage, commander of District No. 3 and Frank Webb, this city, junior vice commander, were guest speakers at the post home following a colorful street parade.

Henry Hart Post No. 1411, VFW here, led the parade and the marchers included veterans of World Wars I and II from Friendsville, Grantsville, Accident, Oakland, Frostburg, Lonaconing, Mt. Savage and Cumberland.

The post has a goal for 1951 of 150 members, almost twice as many as ever enrolled. The post is vying for a district, state and national trophy for greatest percentage increase and for a trophy for being the first to enroll 100 per cent of quota.

Enrollments last night included veterans from Oakland, Grantsville, Accident, Friendsville and rural areas of the county.

Lane, Tydings Campaign In Washington County

HAGERSTOWN, Oct. 10 (AP) — Governor Lane went into Washington County—his home—today in his campaign for a second term.

With him were his Democratic party running mates—Senator Millard E. Tydings, Attorney General Hall Hammond and Comptroller J. Millard Tawes.

The two big events of the strenuous day were a dinner of party leaders and a public rally here.

C. William Hetzer, Democratic county chairman, was in charge of the two meetings. He spent the day with the campaign party on its tour of the county.

Conspicuously absent from the affairs, however, was E. Lee Elgin former commissioner of motor vehicles, and a long time political foe of the Governor.

Elgin managed the Washington County campaign of Lane's primary opponent, George P. Mahoney.

W. Md. Railway Offers Plan For Recapitalization

Board Asks Approval Of Stockholders, ICC

A plan of rearranging its capital setup to pay off dividend arrearages and strengthen the company's future credit position has been approved by the board of directors of the Western Maryland Railway Company and is being submitted to the stockholders, according to Eugene S. Williams, president.

The company, it was disclosed, is $136.50 per share behind in paying dividends on its seven per cent first preference stock. The aggregate amount is $24,217,830.

Under the new plan, which must be approved by 75 per cent of the railroad's shareholders, or fewer if the ICC decides that will be all right, each holder of seven per cent first preferred, would get 1.4 shares of new five per cent first preferred, one share of new 4 per cent second preferred, and one and one-half shares of new common in exchange for each share now held.

Holders of the present second preferred would get one-half share of new four per cent second preferred and one and one-four shares of new common. The holders of common stock would get the new common, share for share.

New Stock Callable

The present first preferred, described as something of a millstone to the company, totals 177,420 shares, and is not callable. The new first preferred would be redeemable after January 1, 1955.

The new capital setup would give the Western Maryland 1,316,879 shares of stock outstanding at a par value of $66,008,487. It now has 771,671 at a par value of $77,167,098.

The plan is based on estimates that the Western Maryland, a coal hauling short line, will have a net income of at least $4,000,000 in normal years, with about $2,450,000 available for dividends. If this projection worked out, the common stock would draw a dividend of 50 cents a year.

President Williams in his letter to stockholders expresses the view that unless the recapitalization program is adopted it will be impossible to pay dividends on "either existing second preferred or the common stock in the foreseeable future and well beyond."

Sees Expansion Possible

It is pointed out that because of the accumulated dividends on the first preferred, there can now be no dividends on the 61,382 shares of four per cent second preferred and the 532,868,984 shares of common.

The new plan, Williams points out, will make it possible for the shareholders to realize a return on their investment and will also make possible expansion of existing terminal and track facilities and other property, to enable the handling of additional business and greater earnings.

An application has been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission for approval of the plan.

Essay Winners Are Announced

Two elementary school students of Allegany County and Garrett County have been selected as winners of trophies in an essay contest sponsored last spring by the Maryland Fire Safety Committee in the interest of fire prevention.

Donald McCombs, of Luke, and Joanne Collier, of Accident, were the winners in their respective counties, according to Cromwell Zembower, first vice president of the Maryland State Firemen's Association.

Zembower will present a trophy to McCombs tonight at a Fire Prevention Week rally in Piedmont High School.

On Monday, at an assembly program at Accident school, he will make a similar presentation to Miss Collier.

The contest was announced in all schools last spring and several hundred Maryland children submitted entries.

News In Brief

The October meeting of the Tri-State Traffic Club will be held at 6:30 p. m. today at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Two color films, "The Power Behind The Nation" and "Big Tim," will be shown.

Chest Appeals For Greater Response To Fund Campaign

Casual indifference to the Community Chest appeal is jeopardizing the success of the $87,794 fund which is being sought to support the work of nine Red Feather agencies, Frederic W. Eiler, general chairman, declared yesterday in appealing for a greater response from contributos.

A total of $21,129 was added to the previous report of $25,027 at yesterday's second report meeting to bring the fund to 52 per cent of its objective.

"The future of the Cumberland Community Chest is right now at stake," stated Eiler.

"To offset the many splendid contributions, there are many that indicate that the contributor wanted to see 'how little he could get by with' rather than give as much as he could or should.

"If we believe in a federated appeal for nine agencies, then our gifts have to be on a basis to support nine and not just one of the agencies. The community of Cumberland is on trial and the next few days will tell whether or not we are willing to back up with dollars the ideals we have been emphasizing."

The Advance Gifts committee with $28,625 or 58 per cent of its goal of $49,000 in hand, faces the prospect of re-soliciting many of the contributors in this bracket. Lynn C. Lashley, chairman of the committee, is recruiting additional manpower to secure the $20,375 needed to meet its goal.

George M. Martin, chairman of the classified section, has recruited a "flying squadron" of life insurance underwriters who are working under Douglas E. Ritchie to fill weak spots in the regimental workers section.

The third report for all campaign workers will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday at a noon luncheon. The Kiwanis Club will meet with the campaign organization.

Republicans Offered Special Course In Practical Politics Here Tonight

A four-hour course in practical politics for Republicans will be held tonight from 7 to 11 o'clock in the Moose Home, Beall Street, by special arrangement of the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee.

The course, 14th National Republican School of Politics to be held in Maryland, is one of several hundred being held throughout the country under the sponsorship of the Republican National Committee with headquarters at Washington.

A team of three experts in various phases of party organization will conduct the school, according to Earl E. Manges, Allegany County's Republican Party chairman.

F. Trowbridge vom Baur is team captain, assisted by James A. Hogan and Gladys P. Gordon.

Six Major Subjects

The course is divided into six major subjects.

Topic No. 1 will include county and precinct organization training with emphasis on the duties of the county chairman and women leaders; organization of precincts; staffing and equipping party headquarters; appointing campaign committees; organizing for the campaign and recruiting workers, auxiliary and non-party groups.

Topic No. 2 deals with registration of new voters and voting. The how, when, why and who of registration and voting is emphasized in this lecture, along with training of election officials, witnesses and challengers. Setting a voting goal for the county and for each precinct is also emphasized. A question and answer period on organization is scheduled before a 15-minute recess.

Topic No. 3 is covered by a talk on state issues. Topic No. 4, is a Republican statement of principles. Topic No. 5 covers campaign technique at the precinct level and meetings, caravans and rallies.

Topic No. 6 covers the subject of publicizing the party with emphasis on radio, speakers, literature, television and newspapers.

A question and answer period of 30 minutes will conclude the course.

Each participant or student, according to Manges, will receive a certificate at the completion of the course.

Beat Hague Machine

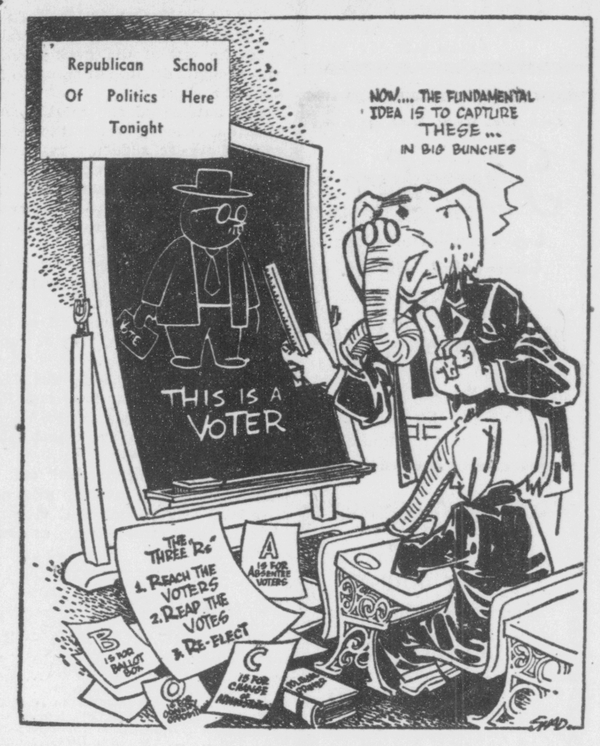
Vom Baur, who will conduct the session here, is a Washington attorney and veteran political expert. Mrs. Gordon, also of Washington, is administrative assistant in the Women's Division of the Republican National Committee, and Hogan, of Jersey City, N. J., successfully organized Jersey City's 311 precincts to overthrow the Hague machine in May, 1949.

Recent shifts in Democrat primary returns make Republican victory in Maryland gubernatorial and senatorial campaigns far from a long-shot possibility, said A. H. Hermann, National Committee Executive Director. He pointed out that when Democrat Senatorial Candidate Millard Tydings last ran in the 1944 primary his opposition polled 20,000 votes but that in this year's primary there were 73,000 votes for opposing candidates.

Hermann said the Democrat primary vote for governor was more than 100,000 above the primary votes for Democrat senator. Tydings' 151,000 votes were 172,000 less than the total gubernatorial vote, he said. The fact that 100,000 people did not vote, plus 73,000 "protest" votes against Tydings, Hermann said, further emphasized the shift.

"We have the issues, the facts, and the candidates this year," Hermann asserted. He said the issues might be thought of in terms of one big issue—the inability of the Democrat leadership and the Democrat 81st Congress to formulate any sound domestic or foreign policy.

"Democrats have already admitted," Hermann said, "to a long list of mistakes, including their reversals on the Brannan Plan and socialized medicine."



One of the most glaring examples of Democrat promises becoming "scraps of paper," he said, was in their complete abandonment of their Civil Rights platform of 1948.

Cites Communist Problem

"One of the most important problems in all America, and perhaps the most important to the voters of Maryland," Hermann said, "is the problem of communism in our country. The Democrats have tried to cover up findings of communists and communist sympathizers, and disloyal persons in the government."

The Republican 80th Congress, he pointed out, was the first to introduce communist control legislation. "But just last September the President himself vetoed a communist control measure—introduced by a Democrat senator," Hermann added.

Hermann said Republicans expect the biggest off-year Congressional vote in history this November. "All Americans who cherish peace and freedom will go to the polls," he said. "It is up to us to take off the gloves and fight at the precinct level. Remember what happened in 1946—and remember what happened in 1948, when 45,000,000 people failed to vote. Republicans must not allow that to happen again—the stakes are too high this year."

Committees named by Smith for the new year include Edward Keech, James L. Weber and John L. Conway, budget; R. L. Spiker, Paul Shircliffe, and James Scarpelli, program; Nelson W. Russler, Joseph Reinhart, Jr., and R. L. Spiker, membership; and Mrs. Vernie Lehman, chairman of arrangements for Halloween activities.

Russler, membership chairman, said last night a drive is planned for enrolling memberships from individual business firms, playground assocations, parent-teacher associations; recreation and sportsmen's groups, fraternal organizations and labor unions, as well as from individuals.

The group is formed to promote the general economic, civic, social and public welfare of South Cumberland and the rest of the city, and has already made considerable progress on several projects, officers said.

McKeldin, Butler Speak In Calvert Co.

PRINCE FREDERICK, Md., Oct. 10 (AP)—The Republican state-wide candidates carried their campaign into Calvert County today.

And, as they did in St. Mary's County yesterday, the nominees stopped at every crossroads hamlet they could find and shook hands with just about every person who stopped to listen.

The nominees—Theodore R. McKeldin, for governor; John Marshall Butler, for the U. S. Senate, and William A. Gunter, for attorney general — also toured Solomon's Island, site of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission's marine biological laboratories.

It was there that the report that Chairman David H. Wallace of the Tidewaters Commission is about to resign reached them.

McKeldin said he would ask Governor Lane if "there is any politics involved, and if the resignation had to do with the administration of state finances and the shifting of the commission's funds from one account to the other."

Weather

After two straight days of heavy showers, the weatherman finally relented yesterday afternoon and gave Cumberlanders a brief but welcome peek at the sun. The temperature didn't go above 54 degrees but the overnight low was only 46. Rainfall amounted to 0.29 inches. Today, believe it or not, is supposed to be mostly sunny and warmer in the afternoon.

Jurist Says Korea May Mark Date Of First World Peace

Korea may mark the date of the first world peace instead of the Third World War, Judge H. C. Kessinger, Ridgewood, N. J., said last night.

He was introduced by James Pitkethly. Robert Little Ebert, club president, presided.

Judge Kessinger explained that the Korean war marks the first time that free peoples have stood up to an aggressor nation.

Urging faith in the United Nations, the speaker warned that no aggressor country has ever stopped making war voluntarily through appeasement.

"We have three freedoms, religious, political and economic," Judge Kessinger said. "If we lose one, we will lose them all."

The common denominator which unites all peoples of the world is belief in God, he declared.

Judge Kessinger concluded:

"The only salvation for the world lies in belief in God and faith in a good conscience, good morals and political wisdom."

Judge Orders Permit Revoked For Metal Shop

Henderson Hands Down Opinion

Associate Judge George Henderson yesterday directed the Board of Zoning Appeals to revoke the permit granted to John E. Twigg, 915 Louisiana Avenue, to use a Michigan Avenue building for manufacturing furnace fittings.

The Judge pointed out that Twigg had made his application for "garage and storage," and that he was so vague in his testimony at the first hearing before the board that the members received an incorrect impression as to his intentions.

Complainants, Judge Henderson said, have used every legal means to protect their rights. When they discovered that the "garage and storage" building was to be used as a metal manufacturing shop, they took appropriate legal action. Some of them had purchased their homes from Twigg after the Zoning Ordinance was in force. They had a right to assume that it would be enforced, and that Twigg knew this when he retained the back part of his property when the homes were sold, the opinion stated.

Last October, Twigg applied to build the structure at 849 Michigan Avenue for use as a garage and for storage purposes.

Residents later protested that he was using the premsies for the manufacture of furnace parts.

Twigg subsequently told the board that when he obtained a permit last October to construct the building, located across an alley from his present shop, he was under the impression that it permitted him to conduct manufacturing operations, according to Judge Henderson's opinion.

In May, the Board of Zoning Appeals granted the permit appeal of Twigg to use the building for the manufacture of furnace fittings.

The appeal was granted under Section 20, paragraph 7 (c) of the zoning ordinance. That gives the board power to:

"Authorize upon appeal in specific cases such variance from the terms of this ordinance as will not be contrary to the public interest where, owing to special conditions, the enforcement of the provisions of this ordinance will result in unwarranted hardship and injustice, but which will most nearly accomplish the purpose and intent of the regulations of the zoning plan."

The complainants then appealed to Circuit Court for a ruling.

Tractor Event Is Scheduled Tomorrow Night

Land Week Feature To Be Held At Park

A tractor driving demonstration will feature tomorrow night's program at Constitution Park in connection with Maryland Land Use and Fire Prevention Week, according to George M. Hitchcock, general chairman.

The demonstration will be presented by members of the Flintstone 4-H Boys Club under direction of Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent.

Members of county Homemakers clubs, under the direction of Miss Maude A. Bean, county home demonstration agent, are also taking part in the local observance.

A movie and talk on conservation are scheduled this morning at Allegany High School at a science class meeting. Speakers will be Martin Gordon and Stuart Delbrook, conservation aides at the local Soil Conservation Service office.

Hitchcock said several school groups are planning to visit the Ralph Ferguson farm at Union Grove this afternoon, weather permitting.

That farm was one of six in the county which held "open house" for the public on Monday to demonstrate conservation practices.

The students were unable to visit the farm Monday afternoon because of rain, and the event was postponed until today.

Funds Assured For Flood Control, Savage Dam Work

Tydings Reports Money Allocated

Funds to continue the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Control project and to complete the Savage River Dam have been assured in the amount of $1,750,000, U. S. Senator Millard E. Tydings said last night.

In telegrams to David Kauffman, chairman of the Steering Committee for Economic Development, and to the Cumberland News, Senator Tydings said he had just been advised by the Corps of Engineers, Department of Army, that $1,100,000 has been provided for continued work on flood control, and $650,000 is provided for completing the Savage River Dam project.

The funds assure work this winter on both jobs, and will provide employment for a number of workers, officials noted.

Albert S. Paye, liaison engineer on the flood work, said this money allocation means that the remainder of the pressure conduits can be completed, water and sewer lines relocated, and other work undertaken.

Starting On West Side

Presently work is being started on the West Side in Riverside Park and along the river, on the relocation of a 24-inch city water line and large sanitary and storm sewers.

Paye explained that it is necessary to move a long section of the 24-inch belt or loop water line adjacent to the river, to make way for flood walls and levees, a part of the final phase of the project.

In addition a 60-inch storm sewer is to be built on the West Side and a 27-inch sanitary sewer is to be relocated and reconstructed.

The funds will also make work on the huge West Side pressure conduit possible, Paye indicated.

This conduit, one of the largest in the series, extends from Greene Street near Paw Paw Alley, just west of the subway, runs under the subway past West Side Fire Hall, along Walnut Place to the river. Another branch of this same pressure conduit starts on Washington Street near Millman Place and joins on to the Greene Street line.

The other pressure conduit which remains in the project series, will start at Wills Creek near Frederick Street, extend along Frederick Street across City Hall Plaza, across North Centre Street to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, Paye said.

Phase III Next

This calls for the removal of the dam at Riverside Park, and rebuilding it farther up the river, dredging of channels and widening of the streams in several places, of both the Potomac River and Wills Creek, and the construction of walls or levees along the banks of both streams through the city.

Three pumping stations are called for, one near the old Footer property on Howard Street, another opposite this site in Ridgeley, W. Va., and a third a long Wills Creek near the viaduct.

Paye said much of the work this winter will be off the streets, thus preventing any more hazards or inconvenience to motorists and pedestrians than necessary during the bad weather period.

ROBERT KAPLON

United Jewish Appeal Drive Is Discussed

Kickoff Dinner Is Set November 5

The Board of Governors of the Jewish Welfare Fund of Western Maryland has completed plans for the annual United Jewish Appeal fund raising campaign for Cumberland and vicinity.

For several years the Jewish Welfare Fund has participated in the national program of raising funds to meet the budget needs of the United Jewish Appeal.

The local campaign will start with a "kick off" dinner to be held in the B'er Chayim Temple on Sunday evening, November 5. Dinner will be served by the Hadassah organization, Mrs. Harry Kauffman, chairman, and Mrs. Max Spear, co-chairman.

The national goal of the United Jewish Appeal last year was 250 million dollars. The budget for this year is for the greatest reconstruction program in Jewish history.

The United Palestine Appeal, the Joint Distribution Committee, and the United Service for New Americans, the three constituent agencies of the United Jewish Appeal, require $272,450,000 to carry out adequately the basic programs. The major portion of this amount, 209 million dollars, is needed for immigration, settlement and economic development programs in the new land of Israel.

It is estimated that 150,000 immigrants will be brought to the Holy Land this year. The population of the State of Israel as of July 1 was around 1,200,000. At the time of the establishment of the New State, in May, 1948, there were approximately 660,000 people of the Jewish faith within the borders of what now constitutes the State of Israel.

Most of the funds raised throughout the United States will be used for a vast housing program in Israel, for relief as well as for rehabilitation assistance to persons in Eastern Europe and in the Moslem-Arab lands of North Africa and the near East, and assistance to emigrants to the United States. Since the establishment of Israel, about 18,000 new housing units were constructed by the United Palestine Appeal agencies. This is still inadequate as many of the new arrivals in Palestine are quartered in tents or in abandoned Arab villages which were renovated and made habitable temporarily.

In France, Belgium, Switzerland, and other lands, the Agency provides cash relief for thousands, operates health centers, vocational facilities and makes possible the rehabilitation of thousands of families.

The Jewish Welfare Fund of Western Maryland has accepted as its share in the national drive for funds for the United Jewish Appeal a large quota to be raised by donations and subscriptions as in previous years, campaign leaders said.

W. Md. Railway Offers Plan For Recapitalization

Board Asks Approval Of Stockholders, ICC

A plan of rearranging its capital setup to pay off dividend arrearages and strengthen the company's future credit position has been approved by the board of directors of the Western Maryland Railway Company and is being submitted to the stockholders, according to Eugene S. Williams, president.

The company, it was disclosed, is $136.50 per share behind in paying dividends on its seven per cent first preference stock. The aggregate amount is $24,217,830.

Under the new plan, which must be approved by 75 per cent of the railroad's shareholders, or fewer if the ICC decides that will be all right, each holder of seven per cent first preferred, would get 1.4 shares of new five per cent first preferred, one share of new 4 per cent second preferred, and one and one-half shares of new common in exchange for each share now held.

Holders of the present second preferred would get one-half share of new four per cent second preferred and one and one-four shares of new common. The holders of common stock would get the new common, share for share.

New Stock Callable

The present first preferred, described as something of a millstone to the company, totals 177,420 shares, and is not callable. The new first preferred would be redeemable after January 1, 1955.

The new capital setup would give the Western Maryland 1,316,879 shares of stock outstanding at a par value of $66,008,487. It now has 771,671 at a par value of $77,167,098.

The plan is based on estimates that the Western Maryland, a coal hauling short line, will have a net income of at least $4,000,000 in normal years, with about $2,450,000 available for dividends. If this projection worked out, the common stock would draw a dividend of 50 cents a year.

President Williams in his letter to stockholders expresses the view that unless the recapitalization program is adopted it will be impossible to pay dividends on "either existing second preferred or the common stock in the foreseeable future and well beyond."

Sees Expansion Possible

It is pointed out that because of the accumulated dividends on the first preferred, there can now be no dividends on the 61,382 shares of four per cent second preferred and the 532,868,984 shares of common.

The new plan, Williams points out, will make it possible for the shareholders to realize a return on their investment and will also make possible expansion of existing terminal and track facilities and other property, to enable the handling of additional business and greater earnings.

An application has been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission for approval of the plan.

Essay Winners Are Announced

Two elementary school students of Allegany County and Garrett County have been selected as winners of trophies in an essay contest sponsored last spring by the Maryland Fire Safety Committee in the interest of fire prevention.

Donald McCombs, of Luke, and Joanne Collier, of Accident, were the winners in their respective counties, according to Cromwell Zembower, first vice president of the Maryland State Firemen's Association.

Zembower will present a trophy to McCombs tonight at a Fire Prevention Week rally in Piedmont High School.

On Monday, at an assembly program at Accident school, he will make a similar presentation to Miss Collier.

The contest was announced in all schools last spring and several hundred Maryland children submitted entries.

Republicans Offered Special Course In Practical Politics Here Tonight

A four-hour course in practical politics for Republicans will be held tonight from 7 to 11 o'clock in the Moose Home, Beall Street, by special arrangement of the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee.

The course, 14th National Republican School of Politics to be held in Maryland, is one of several hundred being held throughout the country under the sponsorship of the Republican National Committee with headquarters at Washington.

A team of three experts in various phases of party organization will conduct the school, according to Earl E. Manges, Allegany County's Republican Party chairman.

F. Trowbridge vom Baur is team captain, assisted by James A. Hogan and Gladys P. Gordon.

Six Major Subjects

The course is divided into six major subjects.

Topic No. 1 will include county and precinct organization training with emphasis on the duties of the county chairman and women leaders; organization of precincts; staffing and equipping party headquarters; appointing campaign committees; organizing for the campaign and recruiting workers, auxiliary and non-party groups.

Topic No. 2 deals with registration of new voters and voting. The how, when, why and who of registration and voting is emphasized in this lecture, along with training of election officials, witnesses and challengers. Setting a voting goal for the county and for each precinct is also emphasized. A question and answer period on organization is scheduled before a 15-minute recess.

Topic No. 3 is covered by a talk on state issues. Topic No. 4, is a Republican statement of principles. Topic No. 5 covers campaign technique at the precinct level and meetings, caravans and rallies.

Topic No. 6 covers the subject of publicizing the party with emphasis on radio, speakers, literature, television and newspapers.

A question and answer period of 30 minutes will conclude the course.

Each participant or student, according to Manges, will receive a certificate at the completion of the course.

Beat Hague Machine

Vom Baur, who will conduct the session here, is a Washington attorney and veteran political expert. Mrs. Gordon, also of Washington, is administrative assistant in the Women's Division of the Republican National Committee, and Hogan, of Jersey City, N. J., successfully organized Jersey City's 311 precincts to overthrow the Hague machine in May, 1949.

Recent shifts in Democrat primary returns make Republican victory in Maryland gubernatorial and senatorial campaigns far from a long-shot possibility, said A. H. Hermann, National Committee Executive Director. He pointed out that when Democrat Senatorial Candidate Millard Tydings last ran in the 1944 primary his opposition polled 20,000 votes but that in this year's primary there were 73,000 votes for opposing candidates.

Hermann said the Democrat primary vote for governor was more than 100,000 above the primary votes for Democrat senator. Tydings' 151,000 votes were 172,000 less than the total gubernatorial vote, he said. The fact that 100,000 people did not vote, plus 73,000 "protest" votes against Tydings, Hermann said, further emphasized the shift.

"We have the issues, the facts, and the candidates this year," Hermann asserted. He said the issues might be thought of in terms of one big issue—the inability of the Democrat leadership and the Democrat 81st Congress to formulate any sound domestic or foreign policy.

"Democrats have already admitted," Hermann said, "to a long list of mistakes, including their reversals on the Brannan Plan and socialized medicine."

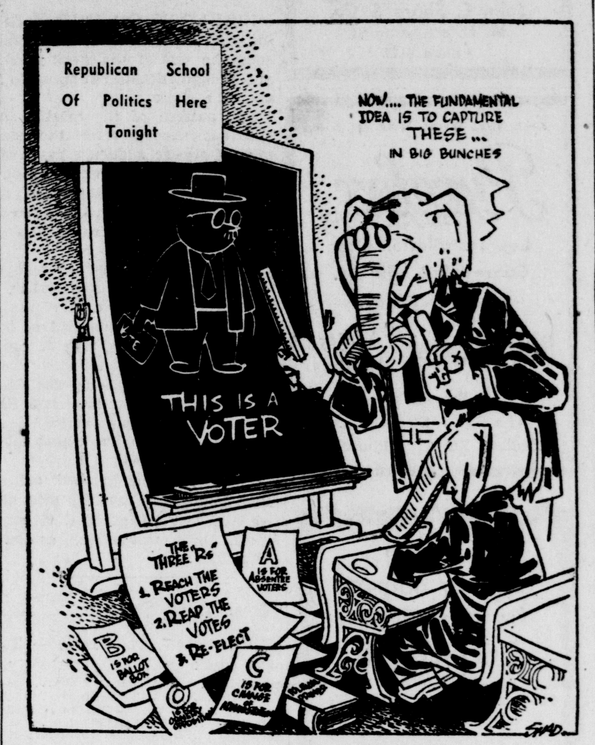
One of the most glaring examples of Democrat promises becoming "scraps of paper," he said, was in their complete abandonment of their Civil Rights platform of 1948.

Cites Communist Problem

"One of the most important problems in all America, and perhaps the most important to the voters of Maryland," Hermann said, "is the problem of communism in our country. The Democrats have tried to cover up findings of communists and communist sympathizers, and disloyal persons in the government."

The Republican 80th Congress, he pointed out, was the first to introduce communist control legislation. "But just last September the President himself vetoed a communist control measure—introduced by a Democrat senator," Hermann added.

Hermann said Republicans expect the biggest off-year Congressional vote in history this November. "All Americans who cherish peace and freedom will go to the polls," he said. "It is up to us to take off the gloves and fight at the precinct level. Remember what happened in 1946—and remember what happened in 1948, when 45,000,000 people failed to vote. Republicans must not allow that to happen again—the stakes are too high this year."



F. Perry Smith Heads South End Association

Membership Drive Gets Underway

F. Perry Smith, Jr., has been elected president of the South End Business Men's Association and Boosters Club for the new fiscal year, succeeding James L. Weber.

Elected to serve with him in piloting the recently organized civic group are James Scarpelli, vice president; John L. Conway, treasurer; Roy Knotts, secretary; with Edward Keech, James Weber, Paul Shircliff and Joseph Reinhart, Jr., also serving on the board of directors.

Committees named by Smith for the new year include Edward Keech, James L. Weber and John L. Conway, budget; R. L. Spiker, Paul Shircliffe, and James Scarpelli, program; Nelson W. Russler, Joseph Reinhart, Jr., and R. L. Spiker, membership; and Mrs. Vernie Lehman, chairman of arrangements for Halloween activities.

Russler, membership chairman, said last night a drive is planned for enrolling memberships from individual business firms, playground assocations, parent-teacher associations; recreation and sportsmen's groups, fraternal organizations and labor unions, as well as from individuals.

The group is formed to promote the general economic, civic, social and public welfare of South Cumberland and the rest of the city, and has already made considerable progress on several projects, officers said.

McKeldin, Butler Speak In Calvert Co.

PRINCE FREDERICK, Md., Oct. 10 (AP)—The Republican state-wide candidates carried their campaign into Calvert County today.

And, as they did in St. Mary's County yesterday, the nominees stopped at every crossroads hamlet they could find and shook hands with just about every person who stopped to listen.

The nominees—Theodore R. McKeldin, for governor; John Marshall Butler, for the U. S. Senate, and William A. Gunter, for attorney general — also toured Solomon's Island, site of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission's marine biological laboratories.

It was there that the report that Chairman David H. Wallace of the Tidewaters Commission is about to resign reached them.

McKeldin said he would ask Governor Lane if "there is any politics involved, and if the resignation had to do with the administration of state finances and the shifting of the commission's funds from one account to the other."

Weather

After two straight days of heavy showers, the weatherman finally relented yesterday afternoon and gave Cumberlanders a brief but welcome peek at the sun. The temperature didn't go above 54 degrees but the overnight low was only 46. Rainfall amounted to 0.29 inches. Today, believe it or not, is supposed to be mostly sunny and warmer in the afternoon.

Jurist Says Korea May Mark Date Of First World Peace

Korea may mark the date of the first world peace instead of the Third World War, Judge H. C. Kessinger, Ridgewood, N. J., said last night.

He was introduced by James Pitkethly. Robert Little Ebert, club president, presided.

Judge Kessinger explained that the Korean war marks the first time that free peoples have stood up to an aggressor nation.

Urging faith in the United Nations, the speaker warned that no aggressor country has ever stopped making war voluntarily through appeasement.

"We have three freedoms, religious, political and economic," Judge Kessinger said. "If we lose one, we will lose them all."

The common denominator which unites all peoples of the world is belief in God, he declared.

Judge Kessinger concluded:

"The only salvation for the world lies in belief in God and faith in a good conscience, good morals and political wisdom."

Judge Orders Permit Revoked For Metal Shop

Henderson Hands Down Opinion

Associate Judge George Henderson yesterday directed the Board of Zoning Appeals to revoke the permit granted to John E. Twigg, 915 Louisiana Avenue, to use a Michigan Avenue building for manufacturing furnace fittings.

The Judge pointed out that Twigg had made his application for "garage and storage," and that he was so vague in his testimony at the first hearing before the board that the members received an incorrect impression as to his intentions.

Complainants, Judge Henderson said, have used every legal means to protect their rights. When they discovered that the "garage and storage" building was to be used as a metal manufacturing shop, they took appropriate legal action. Some of them had purchased their homes from Twigg after the Zoning Ordinance was in force. They had a right to assume that it would be enforced, and that Twigg knew this when he retained the back part of his property when the homes were sold, the opinion stated.

Last October, Twigg applied to build the structure at 849 Michigan Avenue for use as a garage and for storage purposes.

Residents later protested that he was using the premsies for the manufacture of furnace parts.

Twigg subsequently told the board that when he obtained a permit last October to construct the building, located across an alley from his present shop, he was under the impression that it permitted him to conduct manufacturing operations, according to Judge Henderson's opinion.

In May, the Board of Zoning Appeals granted the permit appeal of Twigg to use the building for the manufacture of furnace fittings.

The appeal was granted under Section 20, paragraph 7 (c) of the zoning ordinance. That gives the board power to:

"Authorize upon appeal in specific cases such variance from the terms of this ordinance as will not be contrary to the public interest where, owing to special conditions, the enforcement of the provisions of this ordinance will result in unwarranted hardship and injustice, but which will most nearly accomplish the purpose and intent of the regulations of the zoning plan."

The complainants then appealed to Circuit Court for a ruling.

Tractor Event Is Scheduled Tomorrow Night

Land Week Feature To Be Held At Park

A tractor driving demonstration will feature tomorrow night's program at Constitution Park in connection with Maryland Land Use and Fire Prevention Week, according to George M. Hitchcock, general chairman.

The demonstration will be presented by members of the Flintstone 4-H Boys Club under direction of Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent.

Members of county Homemakers clubs, under the direction of Miss Maude A. Bean, county home demonstration agent, are also taking part in the local observance.

A movie and talk on conservation are scheduled this morning at Allegany High School at a science class meeting. Speakers will be Martin Gordon and Stuart Delbrook, conservation aides at the local Soil Conservation Service office.

Hitchcock said several school groups are planning to visit the Ralph Ferguson farm at Union Grove this afternoon, weather permitting.

That farm was one of six in the county which held "open house" for the public on Monday to demonstrate conservation practices.

The students were unable to visit the farm Monday afternoon because of rain, and the event was postponed until today.

The post has a goal for 1951 of 150 members, almost twice as many as ever enrolled. The post is vying for a district, state and national trophy for greatest percentage increase and for a trophy for being the first to enroll 100 per cent of quota.

Enrollments last night included veterans from Oakland, Grantsville, Accident, Friendsville and rural areas of the county.

Lane, Tydings Campaign In Washington County

HAGERSTOWN, Oct. 10 (AP) — Governor Lane went into Washington County—his home—today in his campaign for a second term.

With him were his Democratic party running mates—Senator Millard E. Tydings, Attorney General Hall Hammond and Comptroller J. Millard Tawes.

The two big events of the strenuous day were a dinner of party leaders and a public rally here.

C. William Hetzer, Democratic county chairman, was in charge of the two meetings. He spent the day with the campaign party on its tour of the county.

Conspicuously absent from the affairs, however, was E. Lee Elgin former commissioner of motor vehicles, and a long time political foe of the Governor.

Chest Appeals For Greater Response To Fund Campaign

Casual indifference to the Community Chest appeal is jeopardizing the success of the $87,794 fund which is being sought to support the work of nine Red Feather agencies, Frederic W. Eiler, general chairman, declared yesterday in appealing for a greater response from contributos.

A total of $21,129 was added to the previous report of $25,027 at yesterday's second report meeting to bring the fund to 52 per cent of its objective.

"The future of the Cumberland Community Chest is right now at stake," stated Eiler.

"To offset the many splendid contributions, there are many that indicate that the contributor wanted to see 'how little he could get by with' rather than give as much as he could or should.

"If we believe in a federated appeal for nine agencies, then our gifts have to be on a basis to support nine and not just one of the agencies. The community of Cumberland is on trial and the next few days will tell whether or not we are willing to back up with dollars the ideals we have been emphasizing."

The Advance Gifts committee with $28,625 or 58 per cent of its goal of $49,000 in hand, faces the prospect of re-soliciting many of the contributors in this bracket. Lynn C. Lashley, chairman of the committee, is recruiting additional manpower to secure the $20,375 needed to meet its goal.

George M. Martin, chairman of the classified section, has recruited a "flying squadron" of life insurance underwriters who are working under Douglas E. Ritchie to fill weak spots in the regimental workers section.

The third report for all campaign workers will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday at a noon luncheon. The Kiwanis Club will meet with the campaign organization.
